Safety at risk? Pupils on their way to the Royal Latin School are captured on a mobile phone being forced to sit in the gangways on the floor of their school bus

Crammed in like cattle

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THESE shocking images show school children forced to sit in a bus aisle on their way to school because of a lack of seats.

Children crammed into the gangway for a week and a half, risking their own safety, on the journey from Milton Keynes to Buckingham.

The Koncept Travel 905 bus picks children up from Newton Longville, Bletchley, Emerson Valley and Furzton to take them to the Royal Latin School in Buckingham each day.

For the first days of the new school term, around seven children getting on the bus at Furzton were left without a seat because the vehicle was full before arriving at their stop.

Thirteen-year-old Stevie Burrett, contacted MKNEWS after claiming his complaints to Koncept Travel and Buckinghamshire County Council were ignored.

His parents pay £600 per year for his bus pass.

The teenager, from Walton Heath in Bletchley, said: "I am already aware that this is illegal, as the Department for Transport clearly states that you must wear a seat belt on a coach. How is this possible for people on the floor?

"If there was an accident, someone surely would be killed.

"I think it's completely disgraceful and dangerous.

"Last year, another service didn't have a big enough bus, so they sent two.

"Couldn't Koncept have done that? I want to make sure this doesn't happen to anyone else."

Stevie's dad, Steve, said: "When we pay the fees they tell us we have to get them in as early as possible because its passes are allocated on a first-come first-served basis.

"How on earth did they oversubscribe in the first place?

"There is even a sign at the front of the bus that says 'No standing passengers'.

"It's laughable if it wasn't so serious."

But yesterday a spokesman for Little Horwood bus company Koncept Travel, denied knowing about the situation.

He said: "I wasn't aware of this. I am aware that one of the stops on that route has now been transferred to a different service because of increased passenger numbers at Newton Longville.

"What we would normally do if there is overloading is transfer them onto another coach immediately.

"Obviously I am not very happy about this. I will have to look into it."

It comes in the same week that city MP Mark Lancaster vowed to raise the issue of people wearing seatbelts on buses in Parliament.

He said: "Passengers are required by law to wear a seatbelt but unlike airlines, where announcements and a physical check is made, there is no requirement on coach operators to do the same.

"I believe this simple change to the law would have a major impact for public safety."

On Monday – more than a week after Stevie emailed Bucks County Council – he received a response.

Tracy Vere, senior passenger transport officer, wrote: "As I am sure you are aware, the overloading problem ceased last Tuesday morning when some of your fellow travellers were moved onto another service.

"The operator had problems with his larger capacity vehicle which also did not help the situation."

Guilty: Jon Bushell was jailed

Thug jailed for horrific attack

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN has been found guilty of two counts of GBH with intent after attacking two men in Stony Stratford with an iron bar.

Jon Bushell, 27, from Foxhill in Sheffield, was sentenced to 12 years in prison at Oxford Crown Court yesterday.

He was found not guilty of two counts of attempted murder, but was found guilty of grievous bodily harm with intent.

He will only be allowed to apply for parole after six years.

Brian Lydon, 31, and Detcho Stoyanov, 37, were seriously assaulted at the junction of London Road and Coronation Road in Stony Stratford shortly before 11.45pm on Saturday November 4 last year.

The attack left Mr Stoyanov with head injuries so severe he will need full-time care for the rest of his life.

Mr Lydon suffered multiple skull fractures and has been diagnosed with post traumatic amnesia.

Senior investigating officer Detective Superintendent George Turner, said: "This horrific incident followed on from a dispute at the Forrester's Arms in Stony Stratford, in which drink undoubtedly played a part.

"However, whatever happened earlier that evening nothing could justify this cowardly and sickening attack.

"The sentence goes some way towards making amends for the tragic result of that fateful night but ultimately nothing can change what happened and the effect it has had on both the victims and their families."

Mr Stoyanov, a Bulgarian national, has been living in England since 1996 and worked as a builder.

He lives in Hale Avenue, Stony Stratford with his wife and eleven-year-old daughter.

He was initially given less than a five per cent chance of survival and is currently at the Neurohabilitation Unit in Aylesbury. Mr Lydon, from Coronation Road, Stony Stratford said: "It was a nightmare but I have managed to keep it going as I have good family and friends.I definitely feel very fortunate.

"I will try to commit to once or twice a week to go over and help Detcho out.

"Life goes on, to a certain extent, so you have to face up to things."

In a statement Mr Stoyanov's family said: "This violent assault has not only destroyed his [Detch's] life, but has severely affected the lives of his daughter and family.

"In his spare time he liked to socialise in Stony Stratford and was well known by many within the local community.

"He would like to thank his friends and family for their help and support through this very difficult period of rehabilitation."

Another man, 27-year-old Paul Dawson from Sheffield, was acquitted of all the charges.

Musicians inspired by meaty work of art

A CITY band will join The Chemical Brothers and Klaxons by having one of its tracks played next to a piece of art at the Tate Modern.

Kotki Dwa, an indie and electro-pop band, were selected from thousands of entries to win the Your Tate Track nationwide online competition.

Entrants were asked to write and record a song inspired by a piece of art at the Tate Modern.

Kotki Dwa's winning track, titled Le Beau Charcurtier, was inspired by Francis Picabia's The Handsome Pork Butcher.

The track will be played through headphones installed next to their chosen artwork and featured on the Tate Tracks compilation album.

It will be set alongside original tracks from prestigious performers including Klaxons, The Chemical Brothers, The Long Blondes and Basement Jaxx.

Kotki Dwa include brothers Alex, 21, and Tristan Ostrowski, 17, from Simpson Road, Simpson and Tom Walker, 21, from Haddenham, Buckinghamshire.

The band is named after a Polish lullaby passed down the Ostrowski brothers' family, which was sung to them by their grandfather.

The group, who have been together for two years, all went to Aylesbury Grammar School, which Tristan still attends.

Alex is the lead singer, song writer and guitarist, Tristan plays the bass guitar and keyboard and Tom the drums.

"I found out about the competition when I logged onto our myspace website and saw the banner advertising it," explained Alex.

"It caught my eye as I have visited the Tate since I was at school and I like the idea that art and music should merge."

He said he chose Francis Picabia's The Handsome Pork Butcher because he is intrigued by the character.

He said the song is a quirky, acoustic narration of the Butcher's thoughts about his occupation.

"I thought he probably doesn't enjoy what he is doing, feels guilty and cannot communicate with people properly because he spends all day killing little piggies," he said.

Mayoral campaigner loses cancer battle

THE man behind the campaign to bring a directly elected mayor to Milton Keynes has died following a battle with cancer.

Barrister and parish councillor Neil Cawley (pictured right) of London Road, Loughton, had been suffering with cancer for several months.

He died, aged 50, on September 7. He leaves behind two young sons aged nine and 11-years-old, and his wife Serene.

His family held a private funeral for him on September 12.

Mr Cawley was a member of Loughton Residents' Association, and made it his business to ensure anti-social behaviour such as grafitti was kept to a minimum on the estate.

He wanted to give the MK electorate a chance to vote for their first directly elected mayor.

In a moving tribute this week his wife said: "He believed in what he was doing. He wanted Milton Keynes to be a nice place to live.

"He was trying to get the council to do what everybody wanted.

"That's the kind of person he was. The other day my children said to me 'Oh no mummy, Loughton is going to have more grafitti now because daddy's dead."

Mr Cawley helped set up Better MK – a group of independent politicos who wish to do away with party politics.

He was in the army for ten years from when he was 19-years-old.

He married his wife in 1995 before doing his law degree, at which time he started offering free legal advice and free representation to those who needed it.

This weekend the family will hold a private requiem mass for him, to which close family and friends have been invited including his army friends and his old schoolmaster.

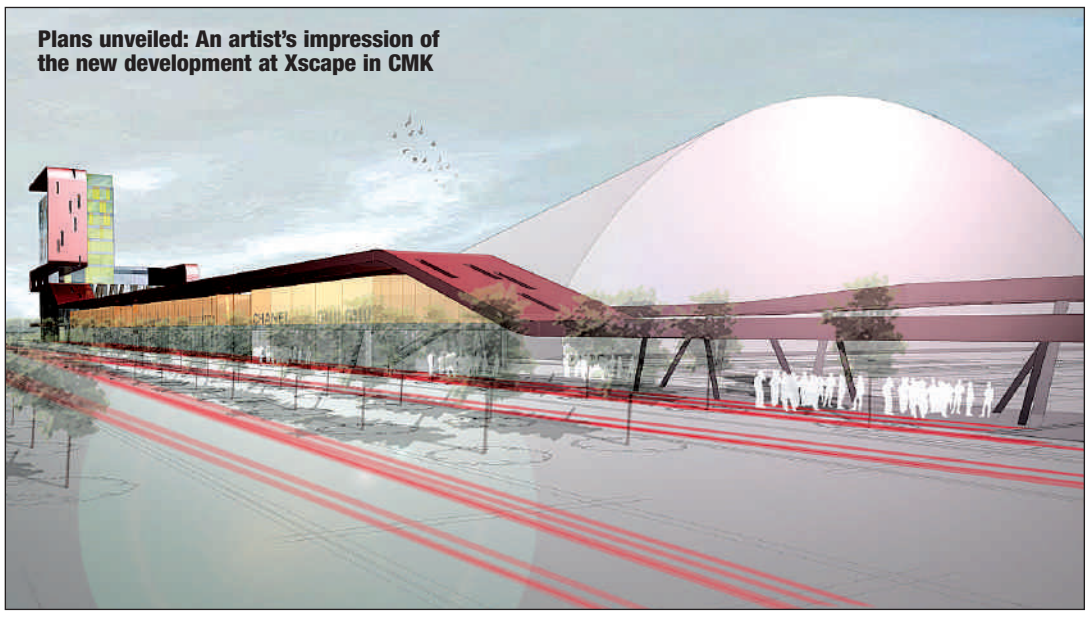
Mrs Cawley buried her husbands ashes at All Saints Church yesterday.

She added: "As far as we're concerned he was a fantastic person. He always wanted to help the community.

"We prepared the children, they were fully aware and they know they can come to me.

"Their schools have been brilliant, so has the priest at the local church and our friends have been very supportive.

"Neil was always trying to improve peoples' lives."



Plans unveiled: An artist's impression of the new development at Xscape in CMK

A vision of MK's dynamic future

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THIS is what the new part of the Xscape will look like.

The artist's impression shows an undercover walkway leading up to a parade of speciality shops and an entertainment hub including a casino, café/restaurants, a hotel and a public area.

The development plans are said to be aimed at 'a diverse and sophisticated customer'.

Xscape is to consult with the public, the council and regeneration agency Milton Keynes Partnership regarding the plans.

They will then be told whether they can have planning permission to build the state-of-the-art facility.

The plans are being exhibited at Xscape on September 22 and 23.

Visitors will be given the opportunity to give feedback on the plans, which include extra car parking spaces.

The expansion will stand to the north of the current building

> Milton Keynes is a great city with lots to offer and our plans will reinforce Xscape's status as the UK's leading leisure and retail destination
> – PY Gerbeau

The new facilities would join the real snow ski slope, Airkix windtunnel, multiscreen Cineworld cinema, bowling ally, gym and the host of shops, bars and restaurants that are already on offer at the entertainment venue.

PY Gerbeau, chief executive X-Leisure, said: "These development proposals will be a fantastic addition to both Xscape and Milton Keynes.

"We aim to build upon our success over the last seven years and create a platform for even more success in the future.

"Milton Keynes is a great city with lots to offer and our plans will reinforce Xscape's status as the UK's leading leisure and retail destination."

The plans have been formulated in response to the Milton Keynes Development Framework Plan.

Xscape has attracted 25 million visitors through its doors since it opened in 2000. This year it has attracted seven million visitors alone.

Its expansion would fit in with the wider developments going on in central Milton Keynes.

thecentre:mk shopping centre has been given outline planning permission for a new restaurant quarter and more shops including a massive House of Fraser, as part of its mastervision project.

It will also provide more car parking and link thecentre:mk to Milton Keynes as part of a more pedestrian-friendly city centre.

No cat-isfaction

SIR – The RSPCA are sorry to hear about Laura Lewis' experience of rehoming a cat in 2003 ('Please take my cat' MK News August 29).

We are not sure which branch or animal centre Dillon the cat was rehomed from and, as he was rehomed several years ago, it will be difficult to look into this further.

However the RSPCA would like to reassure readers that the response Ms Lewis says she received would not be our usual one.

Thorough vet checks are carried out, all animals are up to date with vaccinations and support would normally be offered to the new owner of a rescued animal.

The RSPCA recommends that owners worried about FIV ensure that their cats are fully vaccinated against the disease.

Sophie Wilkinson
RSPCA East Regional Press Officer

V6 is V dangerous

SIR – I was surprised by the fact that another young person had been injured on V6.

However after some recent days out around MK I am beginning to understand the reasons and some of the fault has to be down to parents.

I have seen numerous children thinking that it is OK or acceptable to run across from Shenley Brook End School over to Morrisons playing 'chicken' with cars travelling at speed.

Then whilst out shopping in the centre teaching my toddler that he should look for cars both ways and only if it was clear then he could cross the road, I got a disapproving look from a middle aged couple that I was clearly holding up their journey to shops by standing in their way of them crossing the road instead of being a responsible parent and teaching the dangers of the road safety.

I wonder how many other parents think it is ok not to teach children about the dangers of the road and until they do, accidents will continue to happen.

Nothing wrong with tea

SIR – In the current edition of MK News, you propagate the urban myth that tea (or coffee) be dehydrating, and attribute this statement to two beauty physicians.

I have no doubt that many GPs will be equally ignorant, but recent studies debunk this myth.

A medical layperson, I have heard about them in a programme on BBC Radio 4.

Using an Internet search engine, I quickly found this document: http://www.corporate.basf.com/en/stories/wipo/kaffee/downloads/?getasset=file1&name=BASF_Wissenschaft_populaer_Ultraform_e.pdf

Quote: 'Coffee is dehydrating'. A US study published in early 2006 on caffeine and the water metabolism corrected this misconception. The German Nutrition Society writes: 'Coffee as a beverage is an important part of total daily water intake.

In terms of water metabolism, coffee basically counts like any other beverage. The myth of coffee as a stealer of fluids is based on error.'

The fact that you conclude your report with covert advertising for a certain yoghurt producer does not make it more credible.

Welcome sign graffiti vandal should be made to suffer for his wayward art

SIR - I was enjoying an afternoon stroll, sun shining, birds singing, at peace with the world until I noticed that the new, shiny green and white 'Welcome to Bletchley, Home of the Codebreakers' signs on the Simpson Road approach to the town had been defaced by some individual wielding an aerosol can.

This act of mindless vandalism beggars belief and shows total lack of respect for the code-breakers of Bletchley Park to whom we owe so much.

One doubts however, that the perpetrator of this crime has any idea of the world-renowned work done by these remarkable men and women.

As an archaelogist I am well acquainted with the graffiti left to us by residents of ancient Rome, Pompeii etc but at least their efforts are literate, often political, witty and amusing not like the meaningless daubs blighting our lives today.

These daubs possess none of the qualities of their ancient forerunners.

Would it be going too far to suggest that their perpetrator if caught undertaking such acts again, be publicly and very painfully humiliated by the ancient fertility god and guardian of nature Priapus.

But that we could raise him from the dead?

Hedley Pangally
Denmark Street, Fenny Stratford

No excuse for accidents

SIR – RE: Bike crash boy leaves hospital'.

Another child in an accident on the V7 Saxon street which is always one child too many.

But the V7 and all the other roads in Milton Keynes were designed for the buses and cars and the paths alongside and the redways and bridges above the roads are for pedestrians no matter what age or who they are.

Whenever such tragedies happen, my thoughts go first to the drivers of the vehicles involved. Nothing is ever heard about them when the inquests are over and they are the ones who have to live with that split second for the rest of their lives. The victim who caused the accident is either dead or hopefully recovers enough to lead a normal live.

Riding a bicycle across any road in front of a bus or car is more than foolish, as the driver cannot pull up just like that.

What chance has the driver got, when he/she sees this happening. The answer is none at all.

I am not surprised to hear of another accident on the V7 as I cannot recall how many times I have seen people walking or running across that stretch of road where Barrie Fraser was killed when I am sat in the back of a wheelchair taxi because I cannot run or walk at all.

How I would love to be able to 'walk' those few yards to be able to cross the road in safety on the bridge above or go for a nice walk along the provided paths and our very special redways throughout the city.

There is no excuse or reason for pedestrians or cyclist to be knocked down in Milton Keynes is there?

It is up to you to take extra care and not expect that driver to stop or kill you and you never get across the road or finish your journey.

But the drivers has to and live with your death the rest of their life.

OAPs free bus travel

SIR – Just to remind pensioners that after a vigorous campaign by the National Pensioners Convention, new Government legislation, will mean that a National Free Bus Travel Scheme will be introduced throughout England as from April 1, 2008.

Pensioners should by now have received a form from MK Council to enable them to receive their new pass in time for the change next year.

To carry on the fight on pensioner issues, we will be having a FREE Coach to the National Pensioners Lobby of Parliament on Wednesday, October 24,leaving MK Centre John Lewis Coach Park at 10.30am.To book a seat contact Andy on MK 672008.

Peter Billups
Chairman, MK Pensioners Association.
St Leger Drive, Great Linford

Stand up - be counted

SIR – Not for the first time you report on a council committee vote – this time concerning MK Rugby Club – where there were abstentions.

I recall, that at the first meeting of the full council, after the elections of 2005, when the council was a hung council, that all the Conservative and Labour councillors abstained en masse, at every vote for the council leader, deputy leader and the suchlike, even though the positions had been agreed with all parties prior to the full meeting of the council.

My question is this, why do you need members of the council, sub committees etc, who are not prepared to exercise their right to vote?

After all, they were elected by the electorate to represent them.

To abstain from a vote, shows a lack of conviction and they should stand down and make way for people who are prepared to stand up for their convictions, and vote.

Heartless goat thieves

SIR - How horrible that those three goats were stolen from an island in the middle of North Willen Lake (MK News September 12).

The thieves must have been so cruel to take the animals from their herd.

How did they know they were there? I have never noticed them!

And it must have taken forward planning and a major effort as I can't imagine catching three goats was easy.

I hope the animals are returned safely soon and the culprits caught.

My heart goes out to the owners who must be worried sick.

F-Tizzle and the Fame man join forces on new album

FAME Academy winner David Sneddon was in town last week to record with local artist F-Tizzle.

Tim Lawson, 19, who goes by the stage name of F-Tizzle struck up a conversation with the Scot on myspace.

David Sneddon – winner of the BBC's first Fame Academy series in 2002 – was impressed with F-Tizzle's tracks and agreed to make the journey to Milton Keynes to collaborate on a track for F-Tizzle's second album.

The pair recorded the single – titled 'A Different Time' – at a studio on Portland Drive, Willen, last Monday and Thursday.

Oldbrook resident and ex-St Paul's student F-Tizzle said: "It's a girl song, about being with someone in the future. It's a weird combination of artists, David Sneddon and me.

"He makes pop and I make urban, but the fusion works well.

"He has a very different voice, he sings with a Scottish accent."

F-Tizzle was first noticed by top bods in the music industry when he made the backing beat to a track, Singalong, made famous by Crazy Titch, a well-respected underground artist.

He has recorded videos at city spots including Midsummer Place and Nexus nightclub and toured schools around Milton Keynes.

He added: "David is going to come down here more and we'll do more projects in the future."

Fatal crash victim's mother speaks out

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

THE mother of a city man who died in a motorcycle crash has spoken of her tragic loss.

Thirty-four-year-old Shane Carter, of Jonathans, Coffee Hall, was killed when his Suzuki motorbike collided with a red Fiat Brava on the H2 near Fullers Slade on Sunday, February 11.

Shane's wife, Angelina, and his mother, Lorraine Carr, attended Milton Keynes Coroner's Court on Thursday for the inquest into his death.

Speaking to MKNEWS afterwards, Mrs Carr, from Greenleys, said: "We were expecting him to turn up at about 4pm but Leigh, Shane's brother, turned up and told me he was dead.

"He had only just passed his motorbike test four months before.

"He was always very conscious of road safety, especially helmets, but he was determined to ride his bike.

"I loved him to bits and we miss him terribly."

Shane left behind a brother and sister, and two nieces, both aged one.

He served in the army before becoming a bus driver for MK Metro – a job he loved nearly as much as his bike, said his mother.

At the inquest, Coroner Rodney Corner listened to evidence from police officers and an eye witness before hearing from the driver of the Fiat, Frenchman Christian Dikoba, of Shepherds, Fullers Slade.

Mr Dikoba said he had not seen the bike and did not realise what had happened when he heard a loud bang and the back windows of the car shattering.

Victim: Shane Carter who died in an accident while riding his motorbike

Mr Corner said: "I've no doubt that Mr Dikoba was very familiar with the roads there as he has lived in Fullers Slade since 2004.

"I'm satisfied that the motorbike was imminently visible to Mr Dikoba had he been paying proper attention to the road ahead of him.

Mr Dikoba held his head in his hands as Mr Corner described Shane Carter's final moments alive.

He said Shane spotted the car and braked, sending his bike skidding onto its side and throwing him under the vehicle as it turned into the junction.

"Mr Carter suffered massive injuries from which he couldn't have lived," said Mr Corner.

He returned a verdict that Mr Carter was killed in a road traffic accident.

GRANT SEELEY

Invest Milton Keynes so close to winning award

Our occasional series of guest columnists continues today with the thoughts of director of inward investment for Invest Milton Keynes, GRANT SEELEY

THE Invest Milton Keynes 2006-07 Annual Review has landed on my desk and this week we will proudly be distributing it to over 1,500 chief executives and key contacts in the South East of England.

This year has been fantastic for Invest Milton Keynes, with the city welcoming a massive 58 investment successes, including 13 international arrivals from eight different countries, created or safeguarded 2,805 jobs and handled 404 premise/land inquiries – a four year high and 46 per cent increase on the previous year.

Of these successes 28 (48 per cent) are existing Milton Keynes businesses expanding into new premises. This demonstrates that the city is an excellent location for businesses to grow and reflects Invest Milton Keynes' commitment to support local companies.

Also from this year's figures, 24 (41 per cent) of the successes were knowledge-based businesses, a key sector we're targeting, and accounts for 1,052 (37 per cent) of the jobs created or safeguarded.

As you will have read over the past few months we have had some very interesting and high-profile success stories. These include the first Chinese company to come to Milton Keynes, HYT Telecommunications, Konrad Hornschuch AG, a German company and global leader in the manufacture of sheeting, high-tech synthetics and imitations leather, and the expansion of Stone and Webster Ltd, part of the Shaw Group and one of the world's largest engineering and construction groups.

Also Invest Milton Keynes has continued to support and help deliver major events to raise the city's profile nationally. IMK, with partners, has supported such events as the London 2012 Roadshow where David Higgins, chief executive of the Olympic delivery committee and Simon Clegg, chief executive of the British Olympic Association were welcomed to Milton Keynes by Invest Milton Keynes and Milton Keynes Council. IMK was also delighted to support Business Link in the pioneering initiative 'The Pitch' which reaffirmed Milton Keynes as a city of enterprise, which culminated with six contestants vying for £500,000 worth of investment in front of an audience of 300 people.

In less than two years, the investment team part of Milton Keynes Partnership's has built a sound platform, achieved impressive results and most importantly, made a real difference to the city's economic development. So much so that Milton Keynes Partnership was selected as one of three finalists in the 'Economic development organisation of the year' category of the Regeneration and Renewal Awards 2007.

> This year has been fantastic for Invest Milton Keynes … and it has continued to support and help deliver major events to raise the city's profile nationally.

Although we didn't quite win we were delighted to be a finalist together with Manchester's investment agency MIDAS and the Isle of Wight Economic Partnership.

Here's to another record-breaking year!

Time-saving bypass opened

A MUCH-CONTESTED bypass was opened by an ex rally and race driving champion on Friday.

Buckinghamshire County Council (BCC) waved the starter flag on the Stoke Hammond to Linslade bypass on September 14.

The bypass is a five-mile stretch of dual carriageway which will provide a quick link between Aylesbury and Milton Keynes for 1,100 daily commuters.

The bypass sparked protests both for and against in January 2005 when national anti-roads group Road Block tried to make it the focal point of a national anti-road-building lobby.

A spokesman for BCC said: "Since that time the council has worked closely with local environmental groups to minimise the environmental impact and deliver a range of sustainable alternative transport benefits and road safety measures.

"The by-pass will provide welcome relief for more than 36,000 residents of Leighton-Linslade, Soulbury and Stoke Hammond, who protested many years ago for the bypass and campaigned for more than 20 years until the council finally secured Government approval and funding to build the road.

"The road is part of a planned strategic network which will be more able to cope with the major housing growth the government wishes to see in the area.

"Initially it will also relieve congestion and divert through-travelling HGVs from Leighton-Linslade and Stoke Hammond."

An express bus planned for commuters between Aylesbury and Milton Keynes to reduce congestion on the roads was the first vehicle to use the road to emphasise and encourage the alternative travel option.

The express bus will give commuters an extra 20 minutes in bed as it knocks travelling time off the existing X15 service.

It was ridden by racing champion Paddy Hopkirk, who won the Monte Carlo Rally with British team-mate Henry Liddon in a Mini Cooper in 1964.

Council commits asbestos offence

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE council has been caught storing asbestos without a licence.

It comes after it gave a housing developer permission to store 'difficult' asbestos in a locked skip on community land in Netherfield.

The contracted developer was using the land in Netherfield as a base and storage site on which to keep toilet cisterns containing asbestos, until they could be safely transferred to a designated disposal facility.

But after months of allowing the contractor to store the cisterns - and even supporting the developer following complaints by residents – the council admitted the material should not have been kept there.

In an email written by HBS senior surveyor Jason Grace in March, he confessed: "The contractor, with our consent and consultation, used to put these toilet cisterns into a lockable asbestos skip at both the Netherfield and Denbigh sites until collection/disposal from the skip company to a tip – an acceptable and used method throughout the country.

"Unfortunately the legislation around this is vague and open to interpretation. The problem comes with the interpretation of storage.

"Some environmental waste officers class this storage as a waste transfer station which we or the contractor don't have a licence for, and others as a collection point, stored in a safe manner, for further disposal.

"Unfortunately the officer looking at us had deemed this method as the same as a transfer station, hence we have had to change our way of working."

Now all asbestos waste is taken straight from where it is found to a registered transfer station ready for disposal.

Mr Grace added: "This is a more expensive procedure for the service, but prevents risk of non-compliance."

Community campaigner Joyce Hall, of Broadlands, Netherfield, says that promises to leave the site in a 'secure and tidy state' were broken.

Children got into the site and interfered with electric cables, and gas, water and sewerage pipes

She said: "I think they broke their contract. People weren't very happy. They said there wouldn't be big lorries and there were.

"The council said it was not going to be used as a builders' yard primarily, but there were absolutely oodles of containers. Not little ones, but the big ones like they put on trains."

A spokesman for the council said: "Toilet cisterns removed from MK Council properties, which contain minute traces of asbestos material, were being stored safely and securely, using a method that is common throughout the construction industry. Our contractor is licensed to carry out this work and to transport the material to a registered site for disposal.

"However, the law defining a 'transfer area' and a 'storage area' is open to interpretation and on this occasion the Environmental Agency waste officer took the view that it was the former.

"We are obliged to take this into account and we have now changed our practices. Items containing waste are now taken directly to a disposal site or via a registered storage station.

"There is no suggestion that the previous practice created any greater hazard than would have been the case had we implemented the current method at the outset, nor that there is contamination of any kind at the site caused by the earlier practice."

Mrs Hall says she would like a written apology from the council.

They call them busy bees for a reason

Last weekend saw the annual Honey Show in Milton Keynes - a hive of action for busy beekeepers keen to show the product of their hard work.
MK NEWS sent reporter ROB GIBSON to find out what goes on bee-hind the scenes.

EVERYONE knows what a beekeeper uniform looks like but how many can say they have stepped inside one and disturbed a hive full of angry bees?

When my editor asked me to go along to find out how this felt I had my reservations.

Don't get me wrong, I love honey but I have always imagined bee-keepers as a rather foolish breed.

I had never been stung by a bee and when I pulled up along the driveway at Chicheley Hall, my bee-teacher for the day was keen to calm my nerves.

Mike Bensley is Chairman of North Bucks Beekeepers Association, founded in 1946.

A 'keeper for more years than he cares to remember, Mike tells me there are many bee enthusiasts throughout Milton Keynes who meet every week to share their passion.

But as I pull on overalls that bear a resemblance to a space suit (totally white, big silly head-protection) he refuses to admit how many times he has been stung.

I start checking the suit for holes that might be targeted by the 'black-and-yellow army' I am about to meet but there are none and we stroll over to four hives, each about three feet tall.

One contains New Zealand bees, a bright yellow, subdued swarm, another contains the more aggressive, darker cross-breeds.

Mike uses a smoke device to send four short bursts of smoke into the bottom of the hive.

This, he explains, fools the bees into thinking there is a fire nearby and the hive is at risk.

Rather than panic, the bees fill their bellies with honey and prepare to evacuate, making them less likely to bother attacking us.

Mike then leavers off the roof of a hive as my photographer takes a few cautious steps away from us.

> Mike spots the queen… She is much longer and has a darker body and it might have been my imagination but she appears to have a silver crown-shaped mark on her head

Inside are about 60,000 bees clambering over vertical frames, working endlessly to off-load the pollen they have collected from the fields.

They pay me no attention until Mike slides out a frame and bees surround the air around my head.

As bees bounce off my visor left, right and centre, Mike takes me through the workings of the hive.

They enter the hive through a hole in the front and work around the frames, storing honey at the top, above a metal grate that covers the hub of the hive – the brood box.

He tells me that collecting the honey is an easy and rewarding process and assures me that no additives are required.

Mike calls the worker bees 'the girls'; they are all female and are busy kicking the drones (male bees) out of the hive.

"They don't need them during the winter, all they do is eat the stores so the worker bees kick them out around October time," Mike says.

The odd drone appears here and there, looking lazy, well-fed and hanging on for dear life as thousands of females work around him.

Before I know it Mike has me taking apart the next hive.

I hold each frame up carefully, trying not to squash any of the bees, as we look for the queen.

Then Mike spots her, deep in the middle of her loyal servants, and easily recognisable.

She is much longer and has a darker body and it might have been my imagination but she appears to have a silver crown-shaped mark on her head.

We watch her closely, then replace the frames gently back into the box.

So what exactly is the attraction?

"They are fascinating creatures," says Mike.

By the end of my crash course in beekeeping I am inclined to agree with him.

These insects really know how to get things done and when I return to my desk with four jars of delicious local honey I guess my toast will taste that little bit sweeter thanks to my close encounter with the creators.

Win one of 25 Italian meals for two

STRADA

TO celebrate the opening of Strada in Milton Keynes, MKNEWS and the new restaurant have teamed up to offer readers the chance to win one of 25 meals for two to the value of £50 each.

Located at the newly developed the-hub:mk on Midsummer Boulevard, Strada offers diners a contemporary and stylish setting to enjoy a relaxing break from shopping.

The restaurant, which opens on Saturday, September 29, is also perfect for business lunches and functions with plenty of outside seating overlooking the piazza.

The menu is dedicated to providing exactly the kind of rustic, traditional dishes one would expect to find travelling around Italy.

Notable dishes, made using only the very finest fresh ingredients, include:

Risotto Primavera – Creamy risotto with freshly grilled asparagus, broad beans, peas, spring onions, zucchini, green beans and mint. Finished with baby spinach leaves and grated Parmesan;

Filetto di manzo al pepe verde – Pan roasted fillet of beef with a creamy shallot and peppercorn sauce served with buttered green beans and garlic and thyme gratin potatoes

Or Tonno Nizzarda – Seared yellow fin tuna with a cannellini bean, rocket, red onion, cherry tomato, cucumber and green bean salad. Served with a chive, caper and lemon dressing.

A range of traditional pizzas – each one theatrically spun by hand – is also a integral feature of Strada's menu. Options include the Rustica, tomato, mozzarella, chargrilled Neapolitan sausage, oven roasted baby artichokes, capers, roasted Italian tomatoes, caramelised onions and fresh oregano.

Desserts are also faithful to the authentic theme with classics such as panettone al forno, a warm panettone bread and butter pudding served with vanilla ice cream and caramel sauce.

General manager Tina Flannery said: "Strada in Italian means 'street' – as in your local street. We wanted to create a local restaurant in thehub:mk, that offers rustic, authentic Italian cooking at a reasonable price. Diners can visit us for a three-course meal, but just as easily pop in for a pizza or pasta with a glass of good Italian wine."

Strada serves purely regional Italian wines, as well as beers and spirits, which have all been carefully chosen to complement the menu. In addition every table receives complimentary bottled purified water.

They also cater for parents with young children by supplying high-chairs, buggy storage and half portions of pasta.

HOW TO ENTER

To win one of 25 meals for two answer the following question?
Where in Milton Keynes is Strada located?
Send your answers to MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes, MK15 0DU
Or email your entry to competitions@mk-news.co.uk

Winners will be randomly selected from correct entries drawn and notified in writing. The voucher will be sent recorded mail and must be used before November 30, 2007. Closing date Friday, September 28.

Have I got the bottle to be a Las Iguanas bartender?

NEW Brazilian restaurant, Las Iguanas has opened at thehub:mk, which has an impressive cocktail menu for the drinkers among us. ALICIA BABAEE went to try her hand at making a few.

ANYONE who has seen the film Cocktail will be able to imagine the scene I visualised when I heard I was going on a cocktail making mission.

I thought I'd be whizzing spirit bottles through the air and slinging coasters onto the bar with the grace of Mr Cruise.

As it turns out, I'm not very graceful at all.

It also turns out that it's unbelievably hard to get the knack of making cocktails. I can imagine that memorising the whole menu is like doing alegbra while standing on your head.

Las Iguanas at thehub:mk specialises in a spirit called cachaca (pronounced ca-sha-sa), which is 39 per cent proof. The bar is even called a 'cachaceria'.

Whilst it is available in other places, the Las Iguanas chain is responsible for 60 per cent of cachaca sales in the country.

They even have their own sugar cane plantation in Rio, where they make their very own brand called Las Iguanas Magnifica cachaca. But the restaurant sells nine types.

For authenticity, bar manager Robin Lyle (pictured right) taught me to make Brazil's traditional cocktail, called a Classic Caipirinha – a whole lime muddled with sugar and topped with crushed ice and cachaca.

To make a Classic Caipirinha which means 'country bumpkin' or 'hick', you put a lime – cut into eight cubes – in a rocks glass. Add three bar spoons of white sugar, and mix it with a 'muddler' which is like a wooden pestle.

The sugar is an abrasive and releases oils from the skin of the lime, but being such a weakling, I found it quite hard to grind it up.

Next we free poured 1 and a 1/2oz of cachaca into the glass and added a scoop of crushed ice, before mixing it. At this point most of the ice, and probably quite a lot of the alcohol, ended up on the bar, thanks to my cack-handedness.

We then topped it off with a bit more ice and a stir stick. I discovered that free pouring is a mission within itself.

It requires real technique to swing the bottle upside down without showering everyone around you (which I did), and even more technique to stop the flow with a firm shake (which I didn't… lucky for me I like a strong cocktail). But due to laws mostly linking to legal driving limits, and stock control, staff are tested on their ability to pour specific amounts at the start of every shift.

Bar tenders use 'counts' to measure how long a liquid is being poured for.

The tests are so rigorous that staff members get three tries and if they can't do it, they're not allowed to work that day. If they have difficulty at the start of three consecutive shifts, they lose their job.

Safe to say, I'd be out of there in an instant.

I'll definitely be returning with my friends, but perhaps I'll stay on the other side of the bar this time.

Suspended jail term for woman over £11k benefit fraud

A MILTON Keynes woman pleaded guilty to falsely claiming more than £11,000 in benefits after saying she lived alone.

Lee Vider, 30, of Robins Hill, Coffee Hall, claimed housing and council tax benefit over a two-and-a-half-year period, Aylesbury magistrates heard.

But despite having ample opportunity, she failed to let benefits staff know that she was actually living with her partner, who was working full-time. As they were effectively living as husband and wife, she was not entitled to these benefits.

As a result Ms Vider, appeared in court last Thursday to admit two breaches under the Social Security Administration Act 1992.

She was sentenced to six weeks imprisonment – suspended for one year – ordered to do 160 hours unpaid work and also pay £500 prosecution costs. In addition Ms Vider will have to repay all of the loss to public funds.

The court heard that Ms Vider had claimed housing and council tax benefit, from April 20, 2004. However, between October 25, 2004 and February 11, 2007 she concealed the fact that she and her partner were living together as a couple, and this created a loss to public funds totalling £11,251.97.

> In such cases, where a single person claiming benefit, lives with a partner as husband and wife, but chooses to conceal it, the council will where it is appropriate robustly pursue prosecution
> – Council spokesman

Despite being sent housing benefit claim forms and review forms on several occasions she did not disclose that she was living together with her partner.

When interviewed she confirmed that she knew she should declare a partner who moved in to live with her as a couple.

She added that she did not do so because she did not want to lose her benefit.

She told the officers that she and her partner had considerable debts and that this had contributed to the need to keep her benefits, whilst maintaining the deception.

A council spokesman said: "This woman claimed benefits for two and a half years that she knew she was not entitled to.

"This was a very serious offence and she was lucky not to have been jailed. In such cases, where a single person claiming benefit, lives with a partner as husband and wife, but chooses to conceal it, the council will where it is appropriate robustly pursue prosecution."

Music to shoppers' ears as classical tunes move yobs on

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A SCHEME to reduce anti-social behaviour by playing classical music outside Co-op stores has been a success.

Following a trial earlier this year at the Co-op store in Tower Crescent, Neath Hill, the initiative has been rolled out to other stores in the area.

Taped music by composers such as Vivaldi and Tchaikovsky is controlled by shop staff who can adjust the volume to deter youths who gather outside.

Staff at the Co-op stores in Great Linford, Stantonbury and the Agora Centre, Wolverton, all say the music, which is played in the evenings, is having the desired effect of keeping potential trouble-makers away.

The Fishermead Co-op will be the next Milton Keynes store to join 200 Co-ops across the country taking part in the scheme.

Leanda Mallia, manager at the Co-op store in Stantonbury said: "We used to have a problem with young people hanging around but it immediately died down as a result of the classical music and is continuing to have a positive effect."

The Great Linford store introduced the scheme six weeks ago.

Co-Op manager David O'Sullivan enjoys the classical sounds

Store manager Neville Kerry said: "The young people definitely don't like the classical music.

"During the school holidays we've had lots of them hanging around outside the store in the afternoons but they move away as soon as we put the music on. It's definitely doing the job."

Local Co-op operations manager Paul Hadley added: "We are really pleased with the success of our classical music initiative in Milton Keynes so far.

"It has provided all of these stores with a cost-effective way of discouraging youths from gathering outside and intimidating our shoppers and staff."

Sandra Kennedy, chairwoman of Stantonbury Parish Council said: "I have heard young people discussing it and they don't like it, but whether it does deter them I don't know."

"You also have to understand that young people do need somewhere to congregate, and youth facilities are poor in the area.

"At the end of the day this only moves them from one place to another – it doesn't actually deal with the problem."

She added that she appreciates the Stantonbury store has had a number of problems with anti-social behaviour and harrassment of their staff over the years.

"It was ramraided on one occasion," she added.

"I appreciate it is difficult for staff, so this must be good for them."

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police said: "We welcome any initiative that reduces crime and antisocial behaviour, but are also working with our partners to establish why groups of youngsters feel they need to congregate in areas and what can be done to help them."

Motorola Wireless Car Kit with Bluetooth - HF850
ONLY
£99.99 inc VAT
FITTED!

In 2003 it became an offence to hold a mobile phone when driving.
Since 27th February 2007 the minimum penalty for breaking this law has increased to:

- £60 fine (or up to £2,500 on conviction)
- 3 points on your licence

Imagine holding a conversation on your mobile phone. When your car that has a Bluetooth car kit. Your conversation would automatically transition from the phone to the car system. You could toss the phone into your briefcase and seamlessly continue your conversation via the communication control installed in the car. When the conversation ends, you could choose to initiate another call by using voice dialing features. With the car kit, a highly stylized "control panel" will be professionally installed into the dashboard. The panel houses volume buttons to easily adjust and control volume.

A glimpse into a terrible situation

Motorists received a powerful message promoting careful driving recently as volunteers were cut out of a car as if it was a real incident. MK NEWS reporter LAURA HANNAM was given a taste of what it is like.

I HAVE never been involved in even a minor road accident so could only guess how I would feel when I was told I would be cut from a car in a crash simulation.

The experience was particularly poignant as only the week before I had rushed to Newport Pagnell to cover a major incident where a coach had overturned in the entrance to a service station on the M1.

Six people were seriously injured and 24 received minor injuries when the coach hit the kerb, toppled over and hit a tree and lamppost on September 4.

Cllr Chris Williams is led away

The driver was cut from the wreckage by firefighters and was arrested on suspicion of drink driving and dangerous driving.

The simulation was held outside the shopping centre in Midsummer Place.

I was joined by fellow voluntary crash victims Cllr Chris Williams, cabinet member for transport, and John Godwin, health and safety officer at MK Council.

We were first made up with cuts and bruises to make us look like we had been in an accident.

I was then sat in the driving seat and asked to pretend I had a spinal injury.

One firefighter began by standing in front of the car and asking us to look forward at his hand, to prevent any movement from causing us further injury.

Another firefighter then climbed in the seat behind me and asked me not to move.

He placed a neck brace around me, covered me with a blanket, gave me goggles to protect my eyes from breaking glass and placed an oxygen mask over my face.

Throughout the entire experience he kept talking in an effort to allay any fear and took me through the process as fire fighters buzzed

End of SUMMER desperation

MK Council chief exec John Best is lifted out of a car, top. Above, Laura is told to stay still around the car.

I could not turn my head so the activity was all a blur out of the corner of my eyes.

He forewarned me as the firefighters began to smash the windows, holding shields within the car to stop the shattered glass from hitting me as much as possible.

The sound was haunting but the reassurance of the firefighter kept me calm.

The firefighters moved around the car cutting through the frame and peeling off the doors, each time making a huge clunk which shook the car.

Next the firefighters hung a sheet across the inside of the windscreen to protect me as the glass was smashed.

The firefighter behind me, who was holding me still throughout to prevent me from further injury during the vibrations, said the windscreen would need to be cut with a saw as they are designed not to shatter.

The firefighters outside used a large metal object to smash a hole in the front windscreen.

This was the loudest noise of all and it was rather frightening to watch splits shoot across the glass right in front of me.

The windscreen was cut and much of it was still attached as the top section of the car was lifted away over our heads.

Finally the firefighters worked together to manoevure me onto a back board without moving my spine and lifted me from the car.

Throughout the experience I was impressed by the communication passing between the firefighters.

They constantly told each other what they were doing and discussed the best course of action.

They also worked surprisingly quickly and I was out of the car within 20 minutes.

The experience was certainly an eye-opener, though I am sure I cannot begin to fathom how much worse it must be in real life when you could be in a ditch in the pitch black, trapped and in severe pain.

This event gave a glimpse of this terrible situation and, even though I consider myself a good driver, it will make me think in future if I am inclined to take any risks.

I hope this message will also filter through to the 500 strong audience who watched the activities of the firefighters, as during the past three years 56 people have been killed on the roads in Milton Keynes.

The event was organised by Milton Keynes Council, Thames Valley Police, Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service, Two Shires Ambulance Trust, Northampton and Warwickshire Air Ambulance Service and St John's Ambulance.

Pigeon Street

The big white hunter: Les Sweet underneath the chimney that's so popular with the birds

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

PIGEONS have ruffled a few feathers in Fenny Stratford after the derelict house they were nesting in was demolished.

Residents say they are being overrun by the birds that have made the short flight from the old house on Watling Street to the Penn Road estate on the other side of the road.

The derelict house had no windows, making it the perfect nesting spot for the pigeons.

But since it was knocked down two weeks ago to make way for housing, the birds have been congregating on the roofs of the houses opposite.

Postman Les Sweet, 57, lives on Saracens Wharf with his wife.

He said: "We even had one in the bedroom the other day – he was on his way in and luckily I managed to scare him away just in time.

"I'm becoming the big white hunter at the moment.

"They haven't started to make a mess yet, but I imagine that they will.

"My wife doesn't like it one bit.

"The neighbours are quite upset about it – one joked that he's throwing bread on our roof because it seems we've got the worst of it."

The developer who bought the land wanted to renovate the house, but because it was structurally unsafe it had to be knocked down.

Parish councillor Danny Galvin said: "A few residents have called me about it.

"Generally the local residents are not very happy.

"I went past the other day and nearly took a picture, there were hundreds of them."

The Next Generation of Care Home ...

The recently opened Milton Court Care Centre in Milton Keynes has redefined the traditional image of a Care Home with facilities, atmosphere and environment that are more akin to a 5 Star hotel than a care home.

Milton Court has been carefully designed and decorated to the highest standard and provides an unrivalled standard of luxurious accommodation for all its residents. The residents are free to enjoy the Café, Shop and Bar facilities that also aid socialisation, promote independence and make our residents feel at home.

All bedrooms are extremely spacious with average bedroom sizes of around 20 square metres complete with ensuite wet rooms. Each bedroom is tastefully decorated in a variety of styles and fully furnished including electric profiling beds with pressure relieving mattresses.

We provide the highest quality of individualised care for residents over the age of 50 who require Nursing, Residential, Multiple Sclerosis, Palliative or Dementia Care.

We are now in a position to offer for rental 13 spacious Assisted Living Suites that provide the independence of your own home and the peace of mind that help is at hand 24 hours a day. Please call us for more information on 01908 699555 or visit www.miltoncourt.co.uk.

Witness appeal in fatal biker crash

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MOTORCYCLIST from Kents Hill has died after colliding with a car.

An inquest has been opened into the death of Ricky Fordham, 36, who was killed when his red and white Yamaha motorbike was in collision with a blue Renault Clio where the V3 Fulmer Street meets Blackmoor Gate in Furzton, at about 6.35pm on Septemebr 10.

Mr Fordham, who lived in Crowborough Lane, was pronounced dead at the scene.

The driver of the Clio was taken to Milton Keynes General Hospital seriously injured with a broken pelvis and leg.

A passenger from the vehicle was also taken to the same hospital with minor injuries.

Family members present at the inquest said Mr Fordham was an experienced biker, who always rode with his headlights on for safety.

Mr Fordham was born in Edgware Road, London.

Friday's inquest was adjourned until February.

Police are investigating the incident and are appealing for witnesses to the collision.

Anyone with information can contact PC Ian Sterry on 08458 505505.

Victim: Ricky Fordham

Doorman in court on assault rap

A BOUNCER from Milton Keynes has appeared in court accused of assaulting a clubber.

Mark Hadaway, 26, of Blansby Chase, Emerson Valley, stood before Northampton magistrates last Tuesday facing a charge of inflicting grievous bodily harm.

The charge relates to an alleged attack on a customer at the Lava and Ignite nightclub in St Peter's Square on February 25.

He appeared alongside fellow bouncers Nicholas Hitchin, 26, of Northampton and Mohammed Shabir, 23, from Luton.

None of the defendants entered pleas at the hearing and all three were freed on bail and ordered to appear at Northampton Crown Court in October.

Andy Grout, MK Play Association, Kaye Mortimer, Routes2Success, and Kerry Bunton and Marie Dawe - two local mums undergoing training with MK Play Association

Childcare gets a cash boost

MILTON Keynes Play Association at Kiln Farm is now home to a new £30,000 training centre.

With the growth of the city bringing a huge leap in the number of people working with children, the new IT suite has been opened with the aim of upskilling the city's childcare workforce.

Money for the centre comes from the Routes2Success programme which is funded by the South East England Development Agency.

Kaye Mortimer of Routes2Success says they're delighted to behind the facility.

She added: "We also plan to open the new IT suite to the local community of Fullers Slade, Hodge Lea and Greenleys where residents can take part in basic English and maths courses. It will be a sort of 'mini neighbourhood college'."

Chief executive of the MK Play Association Andy Grout added: "This is a fantastic new facility which will allow us to use IT in the delivery of training for childcare and playwork qualifications. At present we don't have the IT facilities to do this and the use of computers in training and assessment is becoming essential.

"The growth agenda anticipates a lot more child care organisations will develop in Milton Keynes, and as an infrastructure organisation we need the tools to cope with that growth."

Branching out into community

BY LAURA HANNAM

YOUNG offenders at Woodhill Prison are to grow trees that will be replanted across Milton Keynes' parkland.

Milton Keynes Parks Trust have teamed up with the prison to provide inmates with an opportunity to get vocational experience that will help them find employment when they finish their sentences.

Prisoners aged 18 to 25 are digging two raised beds ready to plant 5,000 acorns and 5,000 seeds for a mixture of trees.

The young offenders will tend the saplings for 12 to 18 months before they are replanted around Milton Keynes' parks.

The scheme will employ up to 15 voluntary workers.

The Parks Trust are supplying materials for the project and Milton Keynes Council are supplying recycled wood chip.

David Foster, chief executive of the Parks Trust said: "We're going to need many more trees as the city and parks network expand.

"It's good if the trees can be from more local stock because that way we know they will suit the local conditions.

"This is a really worthwhile initiative not least for the opportunities it provides the prisoners.

"We hope its the start of a long-term partnership."

Alongside this the trust are supplying the inmates with equipment and materials to landscape the area outside their dormitory.

The young offenders are digging a pond system with a bridge and a maze-like flower bed, which will be planted with vegetables, herbs, grasses and bedding plants.

Chris Bagley, environment group manager at Woodhill, said: "We are encouraging the prisoners to feel a sense of responsibility and to have an understanding why they are doing it and what can be achieved.

"We are making sure that it is all labour intensive and will need constant maintenance so we can keep the project going.

"Year on year we will have to replant and regrow."

Ricky, one of the young offenders working on the project, said: "It is a benefit to us round here because we will get a lot better view as there is more stuff to look at; it will be a lot better than seeing just grass and fence.

"We can also watch it grow and have a positive feeling about it as we can see what we have done."

He said the work will also help him when he leaves the prison.

"I am a qualified mechanic but can't do that when I get out because I have a driving ban," he said.

"So when I get out I will go and work for my mate who owns a building company.

"This will give me experience of that kind of thing."

Luke Serjeant, governor at Woodhill said: " I hope that this is the first of many joint projects with the Parks Trust that will enable the Prison to contribute something back to the community of Milton Keynes."

Proposals for CMK parking review 2007

Public consultation

Milton Keynes Council is undertaking consultation on proposals for amendments to the parking arrangements in Central Milton Keynes.

It is anticipated that the proposals be implemented in January 2008. These changes are aimed at reducing congestion, encouraging the use of public transport and promoting fairer use of parking spaces for residents, workers and visitors to CMK. To find out more detailed information visit our exhibition on:

Exhibition dates

Friday 19th September and Saturday 20th September.

Exhibition location

thecentre:mk, Door 1 adjacent to Marks and Spencer

The exhibition will be open from 10:00am to 2:00pm

The consultation will start on Friday 6th August and will run for seven weeks ending on 21st September 2007. We must have your comments by 22nd September 2007. If you can't make the exhibition or would like more information then visit www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/onmkparking/displayarticle-asp?id=51420_

MKNEWSBRIEFS

Coffee morning with a little bit extra

CHARITY fundraisers will prove there is more to coffee mornings than cardigans and cakes when they host the Big Slurp at Middleton Hall on Tuesday.

The event precedes Macmillan Cancer Support's 'Worlds Biggest Coffee Morning' (September 28) and aims to encourage people to host their own coffee morning to help people in Buckinghamshire living with cancer. Besides tasting the different coffees available, visitors can relax with a massage, aromatherapy and reiki in the chill-out zone while the children enjoy tea-cup rides, arts and crafts and story telling in the kids zone.

A local jazz band will perform and there will be dance demonstrations from the stars of television's Strictly Come Dancing.

The event runs from 10am to 6pm on Tuesday.

Police in hunt for public toilet flasher

POLICE are searching for a flasher who made an indecent proposal to a man in public toilets.

The offender entered the toilets in Albert Street, Bletchley, at 2.45pm on Saturday and exposed himself before propositioning another man.

He is described as white, slim, between 55 and 60 years old, with white hair.

He wore a blue Manchester United away shirt and black trousers.

Anyone with information can contact police on 08458 505505.

City's Quaker Centre comes of age

MILTON Keynes Quakers are celebrating the twenty-first birthday of their centre in Downhead Park with an open week.

The event, which will run from September 22 to 29, will give people the chance to find out more about Quakerism.

The sessions at the Quaker Centre will include an exhibition, a historical tapestry and a chance to discuss the Quaker spiritual way and social action.

The United Nations charter granting Milton Keynes the status of Peace Messenger City will be on display alongside information about current Quaker work.

There will also be a birthday celebration at which the Mayor of Milton Keynes will plant a tree.

For details visit www.MiltonKeynesQuakers.org.uk or call 01908 604637.

Cleanliness rewarded

Scores on the doors: Milton Keynes Mayor Mike Barry presents a five-star certificate to Eric Pang of Woburn Zens

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE cleanest restaurants have been awarded certificates for being heroes where hygiene is concerned.

It comes after Milton Keynes Council launched 'Scores on the Doors' in August, a new system whereby restaurants, takeaways etc will be graded from zero to five stars, following an inspection from the council's Environmental Health team.

Dozens of restaurants – as well as schools, play groups and other venues – were praised for their high standards on Monday and were given certificates by city Mayor Mike Barry at a presentation ceremony.

These spick and span establishments include Woburn Zens, KFC at Westcroft and Xscape, Pret a Manger at Midsummer Place, Redway School in Netherfield, The Barge Inn at Woolstone and Dobbies Garden World in Fenny Stratford.

Businesses are awarded a star rating based on the food hygiene standards identified at the time of the inspection – and the results are available for potential customers to view on the internet.

They are also supplied with a sticker and certificate for them to display, hence the tagline 'Scores on the Doors'.

The star rating varies from five stars for businesses who have achieved an excellent standard, to zero stars where improvements are clearly required.

This is a national scheme and the information on catering premises in the Milton Keynes district is available on the internet.

Inspections of catering premises carried out by the council since January 1, 2006, will be put onto the website www.scoresonthedoors.org.uk

The score given from the most recent inspection will be the star rating published on the internet.

An Environmental Health spokesman said: "This will make for a really transparent system, whereby customers will be able to see just how well their favourite eatery performs in terms of hygiene practices.

"It will encourage food premises operators to ensure they keep up to scratch, and follow the rules with relation to hygiene and other safe practices."

Pregnant pause while probe tests for 'life on Mars'

SCIENTISTS at Cranfield University have developed a pregnancy test kit to discover life of a different sort – on Mars.

The university develop key components of a Life Marker Chip (LMC), which was launched into space on Friday on a 12-day test mission to see if will survive on Mars.

The chip uses the same biochemical components used in pregnancy test kits.

It is capable of detecting trace levels of molecules in the martian environment, which would indicate if there has ever been life on Mars.

If the gadget survives the rigours of space it will be used on the European Space Agency's multi-million pound ExoMars Rover mission to Mars in 2013.

Scientists at Cranfield worked with experts from Germany, the USA and the University of Leicester to develop the device, which is slightly smaller than a mobile phone battery and can house over 2000 samples.

It was launched from Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan and will perform over 180 orbits around the Earth, mounted on a platform on the outside of an unmanned Russian spacecraft.

Dr David Cullen, from the Cranfield Health department at the university, said: "This experiment is the culmination of a number of years of hard work.

"The LMC has already gone through a series of ground-based tests to proven its viability, but with the race to find life on Mars, we are keen to see what really happens in space prior to an eventual flight to Mars."

Bedford High School for Girls

You may have noticed that Bedford High School in Bromham Road, Bedford has changed the expression of its name to include the word girls – emphasising the strong commitment to education for girls. A new logo has also been developed for the school which Julie Eldridge, the Headmistress comments " is a blend of the traditional and forward looking, whilst being welcoming, but strong and assertive".

"We believe academic excellence and happy pupils are equally important goals. By providing a supportive and caring environment, every girl is able to develop her talents, achieve her potential and leave us as a confident young woman ready to take her place in society" explained Mrs Eldridge.

Welcoming new girls

Staff and pupils at the school are currently welcoming a number of the new girls to the school from in and around Bedford as well as from overseas. To help them find their way around and settle in, each new girl is assigned a 'first friend', a volunteer who has been in the school for at least a year to make sure that they are looked after and quickly feel at home.

Exam excellence

If the latest batch of exam results for girls at the school is anything to go by, then the tradition of an excellent education is also certainly as strong as ever. The schools' Sixth Form students recently achieved the school's best ever results for the International Baccalaureate Diploma (IB) and outstanding A level results! Five girls gained places at Oxford or Cambridge and one IB student has been offered a place at the prestigious Stanford University in the US whilst the majority of girls secured places at their first choice universities.

The pass result for A level was again an impressive 100%, with 77% of girls achieving A and B grades and 17% straight As.; no mean feat! However with a significant number of girls now completing the International Baccalaureate Diploma we should consider the combined results for A and B grade equivalents which this year was 79%.

The International Baccalaureate (IB) results also showed overall improvement with the average points score of 35.8 and a record 93% Higher Level scores equivalent to A and B grades at A Level. 35 points is considered to be equivalent to four and a half A grades at A Level, while 39 points is deemed equivalent to 5 As. Lisa Kleiminger achieved the top score of 44 points (equivalent to 5 A grade A levels), plus an AS in Art and secured her place at Cambridge to read Chemical Engineering. All students achieved at least 29 points.

Top performers

Two examination boards have notified the School of outstanding individual performances by Bedford High School girls. Edexcel commended Emily Piggott and Mia Gillett for both achieving 'top 10' marks in Advanced Level Geography and Rachael Meredith for 'top 10' performance in both Chemistry and Biology at GCSE and AQA commended Alice Feast's "exceptional result and outstanding achievement" in her Drama GCSE. Alice achieved one of the country's top five marks and considering there were over 30,500 candidates, this is no small achievement.

Rowing gold medalists

Despite all of the hard work obviously needed to achieve this success, sisters Eleanor and Emily Piggott also found time to excel in rowing, with younger sister Eleanor winning 2 gold medals for Great Britain in the Coupe de la Jeunesse and elder sister Emily representing Great Britain at the World Junior Rowing Championships in Beijing.

NEXUS OR BUDDHA BLUE

Friday 21 September

INTERNATIONAL superstars are head to head to the city this week, Sisqó is jetting into the UK for a special gig at Buddha Blue, while just up the road chart-topping Sean Kinston is performing at Nexus in the Point.

Sisqo, famed for his Summer 2000 smash hit 'Thong Song', has performed with some of the biggest names music – most recently Akon.

Sisqó became a household name thanks to his debut album, Unleash the Dragon.

Recently, DJ Spoony and Wayne Wonder also played at Buddha Blue. Manager Robin Lyle said: "We heard that Sisqó was considering a few select UK appearances and we managed to talk to the right people at the right time.

"Sisqó is a megastar in the industry and I cannot wait for him to perform the Thong Song as this is one of the hottest and sexiest RnB tracks of all time."

At Nexus, Maima-born and Jamaica bread artist Sean Kingston, whose single Beautiful Girls holds the the No1 spot in three countries for the fourth week, will be the special guest on the same night.

At the tender age of 17 Sean may not be old enough to get into Nexus but he will be able to woo the crowds with his blend of music that crosses both the hip-hop and urban radio stations. Proving this his self titled album entered has the UK charts at No8 while it being No3 in the RnB and hiphop charts.

Buddha Blue entry £6 before midnight and £8 after. Free entry for women before 10.30pm. All drinks are buy one get one free before 11pm.

■ For more Sisqo information call 01908 241243 or visit www.buddhablue.co.uk. Email info@buddhablue.co.uk for guest list.

Nexus entry £10 before 10pm and £15 after over 18s.

For more Sean Kingston information call 01908 67773 or visit www.nexusnight.com

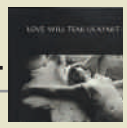
WE DON'T HAVE TO TAKE OUR CLOTHES OFF
Lil Chris

In which another 80s classic gets dusted down and handed over to a pop star looking to save his career. I bet if I visited Jermaine Stewart's grave, I'd probably hear a faint whirring sound coming from about six feet under the ground too. I've got the original version on my battered copy of Now 8 – look, there it is, between Mel and Kim and Jaki Graham. Ah yes, Showing Out, now there was a tune, but that's not the point here. The point is that Lil Chris has given this song a right royal battering and… and… oh God it hurts for me to say this… he's got away with it. I almost feel as though I ought to scrub myself down with bleach and burn the clothes I'm wearing for saying that, but he's stamped his personality all over the song and if you're going to do a cover version, you've absolutely got to make it your own otherwise there's – no point doing it. His style of singing may sound like a small child that's been told to go to bed halfway through EastEnders (and it's certainly not for me), but the backing tune is fine - if you can get past the guitar solo. For me though, there is one disappointment. In the original, Jermaine Stewart sang what sounded to me like "I'm not a piece of meat / Still you ate my brain". Either the words have been changed or Lil Chris is singing them correctly, but either way it's not the same without that line. I'm still going to recommend this, but I can't believe I'm doing so.



LOVE WILL TEAR US APART
Joy Division

Not really a lot I need to say about this one, except well done to the record company for re-issuing it, not only with its original cover design but with the original Factory Records catalogue number too. Nice to see Factory back in any shape or form. Now then, as you may know I'm not easily pleased when certain songs are given so-called 'classic' status. I can't stand Bohemian Rhapsody, Imagine or Dancing Queen, and I'm willing to bet that Chasing Cars is probably going to join them too, which makes perfect sense to me as I can't stand that song either.
However, as far as I'm concerned Love Will Tear Us Apart is one of the few classic songs that fully merits its status. Yes, it's melancholic, and Ian Curtis is singing about a relationship that's completely had it (his own, if I recall correctly), but there's just something about it. I can't really explain it, but whenever I hear it I feel as though I'm listening to something very, very special. The same also holds true for Transmission, Atmosphere and She's Lost Control amongst others, and it just goes to show that Tony Wilson had one hell of an eye for spotting talent. If you've never listened to Joy Division before, you're in for a treat. This song may be 27 years old, but it hasn't dated one bit.

ANARCHY IN THE U.K.
Sex Pistols

And here's another genuine classic. This one's even older (it's a 1976 vintage), and like the Joy Division single, it's lost none of its edge whatsoever. Right from the off, it roars like a Formula One engine and doesn't let up for a second until it's said what needs to be said and done what needs to be done. There's been very little polishing done to the finished article, which only makes the whole thing sound even angrier. Even today, it still sounds full of life and hopefully, this time round it'll do a bit better than its original chart placing of 38. It's got its original cover design (completely black) and the original catalogue number too (again, just like Joy Division), so that'll keep the collectors happy. Me, I'm buying it because it's a damned good song.

BEATCHECK - FEATURING THE FREESTYLERS
Friday September 21

BEATCHECK returns to Revolution this Friday for a fresh assault on the city's late night scene.
The night was a hit when it arrived last year with a zero dress code policy and underground sounds.
Now it's ready to relaunch with a new look and line-up of enraged in-house DJs following a summer break.
Since June, the poor residents have been incarcerated in small boxes being fed nothing but fresh meat to get them fired-up for some deep-down-and-dirty deeds.
Night co-promoter Jason Charles said, "Some people said it was a bit cruel keeping them locked up, but they'll understand when they see how much good it's done for them. "All that pent-up aggression comes out when they play."
Beatcheck has also called in the big guns - in the form of The Freestylers, promoting new album Different Stories.
This duo, who went down a storm at Revolution last year, need little introduction due to hit singles 'Push Up' and 'Painkiller'.
They have a reputation to tear up dance floors with their own breed of beats, breaks, and funk`d-up basslines.
Prepare for all hell to break loose
Entry £4-5, 9pm-2pm, £2 drinks all night.

THE PITZ — BOX OFFICE 660392

PITZ
Solstice, Keep Calm, Carry On Saturday September 22

THE Pitz goes folk, who would have thought the day. Well this is it, the celebrated Buck's based progressive folk band Solstice make their comeback concert Formed in 1980, when Blondie, the Specials, Joe Jackson and the Police were heading the charts, a folk-tinged prog. rock outfit like Solstice should not have stood a chance. Soaring guitar, fiddle and Denny-esque vocals were not at the top of A&R's most wanted list, but audiences felt otherwise. Extensive university tours and sell out nights at London's Marquee club and the expectations of a prog-rock revival led to appearances at Reading Rock and Glastonbury festivals. Now they are back recording again. The current line-up incudes award winning producer and drummer Pete Hemsley.
Tickets £7 adv. Doors 7.30pm

THE STABLES: 280800

BRIAN HOUSTON
Stage 2
Saturday 22 8.45pm
SINGER/song-writer Brian Houston's music combines the spirit and vernacular of east Belfast. With a collection of well-crafted songs and an intense live performing style he has won over crowds with his passionate delivery and intimate lyrics.
Tickets £9.50 adv, £11.50 door.

THE STORYS AND HUMMINGBIRD
Wednesday, September 26, 8pm
JOINING forces for this double bill concert which will see The Storys closing the show.
The Storys have toured with Elton John and Katie Melua. This six-piece west-coast influenced band blend gorgeous harmonies and classic songs with great hooks, melodies and lyrics.
Hummingbird songbirds Amy Wadge, Cathy Burton and Edwina Hayes make a powerful three-piece. The combination produces a beguiling sound which suggests a blend of The Dixie Chicks, Indigo Girls and Crosby Stills & Nash.
With the rock edge of Amy, the gentle pop vocals of Cathy and Edwina's country-folk stylings, the distinctive character of each singers voice produces an exquisite blend of mind-blowing harmonies.
Tickets £15.

COMEDY STAGE - SCREAMING BLUE MURDER

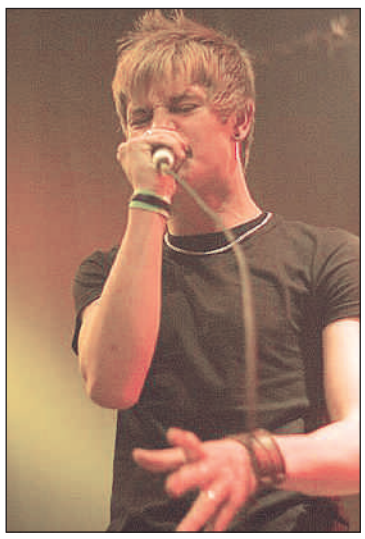
Brian Houston and Sam Brown

ZAK'S BAR, WOLVERTON



ZAKS
Desperate Cycle, Hypo Psycho, Dr Slaggleberry, Slave To Nature
Thursday September 20

DESPERATE Cycle (pictured above) are a five piece rock band , having only been together around about two years, they have accomplished a lot in this time playing 80+ shows between 2005-2006, a DIY tour. With substantial label Interest, the future is looking bright for Desperate Cycle.
Hypo Psycho is a London-based five-piece that mixes several genres from punk to ska, rock to funk to rap and pop with catchy melodies and cheeky lyrics.
Dr Slaggleberry sounds like a experimental jazz/metal fusion, full of complex riffs and phrases, fastly paced passages, artisticly disjointed like a picasso painting but with some astonishing sounds.

MK THEATRE — BOX OFFICE 0870 060 6652

ASPECTS OF LOVE

DONKEYS' YEARS
September 24 -29
DIRECT from a hugely successful West End run, and written by Michael Frayn (author of one of Britain's funniest comedies, Noises Off) comes the critically and publically acclaimed comedy Donkeys' Years.
Twenty-five years after graduation, six former students return to their Oxbridge college for a reunion dinner. Whilst their lives may have had varying degrees of success, all are connected by a common past!
Once locked in their old college for the night, the graduates begin to relive their youth, and old friendships, feuds – and the much-desired but absurdly proper master's wife – come tumbling back into the present.

LENNY HENRY – WHERE YOU FROM?
Sunday September 20
FRESH from the success of this year's Comic Relief campaign, Lenny Henry (pictured) returns for another outstanding night of comedy genius.
Comedian, impressionist, singer and serious actor, Lenny's appeal is classless and ageless.

SLAVA'S SNOWSHOW
October 2-6
A GLOBAL phenomenon, winner of the Time Out, Olivier and Drama Desk Award for unique theatrical experience, has wowed audiences in over 80 cities around the world.
Melding hilarity and poignancy with stunning spectacle and breathtaking, fantastical images, Slava's Snowshow is an unmistakably unique, unmissable comedy masterpiece. Slava and his ensemble of clowns use water, cobwebs, bubbles and dry ice with dazzling effect, culminating in a blinding, heart-stopping snowstorm, engulfing the awestruck audience in a blizzard of sparkling snowflakes.
A show that touches both the heart and the funny bone, full of laughter and enjoyment for the whole family.

SARNIES

76 Saxon Gate West
Call: 01908 309909
Review by Rob Gibson

SARNIES has been serving fresh sandwiches, lunches and buffets for the last five years from their small base in the city centre.
They offer a wide selection of hot and cold take away lunchtime food, including classic sandwiches, warm baguettes, jacket potatoes and pastries.
Trolley service is also available, delivering to your office or home free of charge, and this was the selling-point for us.
Our new offices in Fox Milne are frequented by a series of lunch vans each day and when each horn sounds the office workers flock out to see what's on offer.
With Sarnies we were able to pick and choose what sandwiches we wanted, over the phone, before they were freshly made.
Our news team decided to sample the breakfast baguettes and their delivery was prompt and friendly.
We sampled a selection including bacon and egg on a white baguette (£2.85), bacon, sausage and egg in a bap (£3.35) and sausage and egg in a wholemeal sandwich (£2.25).
The fillings were generous and provided the perfect greasy breakfast that we desired.
The bread was very soft and fresh and arrived warmly onto our plates thanks to the foil wrapping.
A word of advice here – if your meal is left to go cold do not try to reheat it in a microwave without removing the packaging.
As well as regular drinks and snack food, Sarnies offers buffet plates that cater for up to five people, including fish platters (£11.75) and sweet buffets (£6.95-£8.95).

VENUE LIFE

THE Stables, one of the UK's leading live music venues, fulfils a musical ambition of uniting legendary names with emerging talent with the opening of their new innovative and experimental performance space, Stage 2.
To mark the occasion, The Stables last week showcased the work of 'The Stables Collective' - five up-and-coming singer-songwriters who were tutored in a year long mentoring programme by industry experts including David Knopfler (founding member of Dire Straits) and acclaimed singer-songwriter Boo Hewerdine, both of whom are set to perform at the event.
The evening was hosted by Never Mind the Buzzcocks personality Phil Jupitus.
Lucy Pullin, Matt Rivers, Cate Ferris, Sara Spade and Martyna took the crowd at the invite-only event by storm.
The opening of Stage 2 coupled with The Stables' music mentoring programme marks a new chapter in the venue's evolution.
Stage 2 will be used by young people and adults of all ages participating in numerous education workshops, corporate clients attending business meetings and audience members enjoying performances or having a bite to eat in the cafe/bar.
Since its opening in 1970, The Stables has striven to develop its ethos of musical diversity, inclusiveness and experimentation by embracing all music genres including pop, classical, rock, world, jazz, folk and soul.
Although it has hosted legendary names such as Bob Geldof, Evelyn Glennie, Joan Armatrading, Bill Wyman and Jools Holland, The Stables has also been at the forefront of discovering new talent by providing a platform for rising stars - Amy Winehouse, Jamie Cullum, Sandi Thom, Nicola Bendetti, Lemar and Jamelia all performed there during the early stage of their careers.
Also central to the venue's core values is music education as it provides over 250 subsidised educational workshops and projects a year covering a wide range of music genres for people of all ages and backgrounds.
Proposals are in place for a purpose-designed sensory garden which uses an imaginative design to incorporate a semi-circular courtyard area with tables and seating.
It will also lend itself to intimate outdoor performances with its low-rise wall and rigged lighting facility, providing a flexible alternative to Stage 2 if the weather permits.
Fundraising efforts are still continuing to make it possible.
The Stables' exciting new musical developments combined with its strong progressive and creative vision will no doubt cement its position at THE live music venue in the UK for championing musical diversity and new talent.

Phoebe Unwin: A Short Walk from a Shout to a Whisper
22 September – 4 November 2007

THIS is the first major exhibition by this British artist. Unwin's paintings shift between figuration and abstraction. Throughout her practice, Phoebe Unwin works incessantly in an A3 drawing book, creating a personal register of images and marks. Individual pages are worked up simultaneously creating visual dialogues, some obvious, some obscure as Unwin teases and collages images, shapes and forms from the format of the page and materials at hand in pastel, pencil and acrylic.
This exhibition will be accompanied by an illustrated catalogue with a text by Max Henry.

Take the video tour around Church Farm

THIS stunning five bedroom detached farmhouse with annex/office has been totally renovated and re-built over the recent years by the present owners to an extremely high standard with luxury fittings including bespoke handmade furniture throughout.

Many original features have been retained whilst offering contemporary, versatile accommodation.

The property includes a large hand made farmhouse kitchen, lounge, formal dining room, drawing room, family room, basement, two en-suites and a family bathroom, minstrel gallery study, oak framed double glazed windows, a double garage and mature gardens.

A short video tour of this and other larger family homes are available through Moving Homes.

By creating video tour of a property and its location, Moving Homes offers a new level of detail in the advertising of your property to prospective buyers.

Traditional still photography is limited in the insight it offers. By utilising video it's possible to much more effectively convey the character and layout of your property, whilst also providing a more comprehensive overview of the grounds and location.

This local company is now offering to shoot, edit, produce and host a video of your property on the internet when you decide it's time to sell.

Moving Homes, working in partnership with local estate agents, employs the very latest in production techniques and streaming internet video to optimise the marketing of your property and make it stand out from the crowd.

"Larger family homes and those that have attractive or unusual features could really benefit from this innovative service," said David Thirkettle,of Stratfords Estate Agents.

For a limited period only Stratfords Estate Agents are offering free video tours on new instructions. Contact David Thirkettle on 01908 630100

DMK super powers plot city's tourism boom

Michael Synnott of City Discovery Centre, and a member of DMK's Executive Committee, chatting with Christina Horrigen and Mark Voice from Holiday Inn Milton Keynes East.

"WE will not be outdone by other cities with big money pots."

That's the message Destination Milton Keynes is giving to its members.

At a recent gathering at the Holiday Inn Hotel in Central Milton Keynes, members and supporters of Destination Milton Keynes – the city's leisure and tourism organisation launched 18 months' ago - heard how Milton Keynes and all it has to offer is being promoted nationally .

John Luff, director of Destination Milton Keynes (DMK) said: "DMK has achieved a significant amount in such a short period of time and now has a core team of staff with a wide network of others who provide support and creativity.

"This mix allows us to punch well above our weight.

"We have to do this and continuously research and improve our activities, brand and offer.

"If not we will be out marketed by other locations that, unlike us, can draw upon big, city funded support. We won't let that happen because we believe in this great city and its fantastic offer as a destination."

Katharine Sorensen, deputy director of Milton Keynes Gallery, and chair of DMK's marketing group gave an overview of the marketing activities of the last few months, and the plans for the future.

Mr Luff ended the presentation with a call to all businesses in Milton Keynes who want to help the city achieve its tourism potential to financially support Destination Milton Keynes marketing plans.

For further information, email Jackie.inskipp@destinationmilton-keynes.co.uk.

BUSINESSBRIEFS

BUSINESS students will be studying an international parcel company as part of their GCSEs.

Parcelforce Worldwide are working with Countech who manage local education business partnerships across Buckinghamshire.

Countech have based a vocational GCSE on the company for which students will produce assignments covering the investigation and analysis of the business.

This will be part of a year long programme.

To launch the course Parcelforce held a school enterprise day at their office in Milton Keynes last week (September 10).

Over 150 pupils from local schools spent the day working in groups to resolve a real problem posed by a business person.

Students were allocated specific roles within their team such as managing director or finance manager.

This allowed them to experience the 'real' world of work within the school environment, whilst developing enterprising skills and attitudes.

The ice hockey man cometh to manage Unicom

ANDY Hancock has put his pursuit of ice hockey goals on hold and relocated to Milton Keynes to take up his new role as branch manager at Unicom's offices at Sovereign Court in Central Milton Keynes.

Andy, 23, originally from York, has been promoted by Unicom, the specialist provider of telecoms services for small business, to head up the Milton Keynes branch and manage its 35-plus workforce – a combination of field sales consultants and telesales representatives.

He said: "Hockey is high on my must-do list, but business success with Unicom gives me a completely new set of goals. I won a scholarship to attend Sheffield University – and also the offer to play for the Sheffield Scimitars professional ice hockey team," said Andy.

"When I was playing for Sheffield, we beat the Milton Keynes Lightning to take the EPL National Cup – I never thought then that I'd be relocating to Milton Keynes to take up a new job."

Andy will help to grow the Milton Keynes office in the coming months and will also help to develop Unicom's business in the Southern region of the country.

Unicom has 70,000 customers, primarily small or owner-managed businesses with telephone bills of approximately £1,000 a year. The specialised nature of the telephony and broadband products offered by Unicom provides significant savings for its business users.

The biggest Christmas party Milton Keynes has ever seen

SANTA visited the city early this year to let local business people know about the launch of the most vibrant indoor Christmas bash in Milton Keynes.

Party organisers Carte Blanche Events, a sister company of top local catering firm Clarendons, went along to City Breakfast at the Novotel hotel to hand out festive nibbles and spread the word, with a little help from Miss Santa!

The visit was to promote new large-scale mixed parties in December, billed Christmas:MK, which are set to be nights to remember with live music from The Commitments, entertainment from DJ Trevor Marshall and fun casino, games and dodgems.

This spectacular event promises to wow the crowds, as Carte Blanche is working with the production company and interior designers behind Elton John's star-studded white tie and tiara ball and England football captain John Terry's wedding.

The MK Arena, next to stadium:mk, at Denbigh will be transformed to create the ultimate party environment complete with spacious reception, dining and chill out areas.

David Bowen, managing director of Carte Blanche Events, said: "The Christmas:MK concept is all about bringing together a great new venue, fantastic live entertainment, stunning interiors, and delicious catering to create the ultimate party experience. Our parties will be exciting, vibrant and lots of fun."

Local businesses are being invited to book places for 20-plus at parties being held on just three nights on December 12, 13 and 14. The venue is also available for exclusive hire bookings (minimum 500 people).

thinksmartmarketing

The Company
Think Smart Marketing is a progressive marketing company that finds intelligent and cost effective ways of addressing sales and marketing objectives. We cover all marketing disciplines across a wide number of industry sectors.
Our ongoing success means we're looking to grow our Operations team with an experienced Account Manager.

Account Manager

The Role
You would be responsible for the management of multiple marketing projects for nominated accounts. The role is varied and will include creating marketing strategies, writing communications plans, account planning, budget management, third party supplier management, and proposal writing. You'll be responsible for the management and delivery of a variety of projects such as websites, design and print, eMarketing campaigns, copywriting, events, database projects, etc. You'll have management responsibility for an Account Executive who'll support you with project delivery.

The Person
You'll be an 'ideas' person with the ability and experience to create innovative marketing campaigns. You should have an excellent eye for detail, be able to prioritise work to meet deadlines, work on your own initiative and as part of a team. You'll need to be self motivated, happy to work in a fast paced environment, able to handle multiple projects and an excellent communicator. You'll be confident in creating written proposals and presenting your ideas at client facing meetings. You'll deal with projects effectively and profitably whilst continually looking for the next opportunity. You must be numerate and experienced in budget management. You're naturally passionate about what you do and demand the highest of standards.
You must have at least four years Account Management experience (or similar) either client side in a Marketing Department or for a Marketing Agency.

The Package
You can expect a salary of 30k per annum (depending on experience), 22 days holiday (increases with each year of service up to 25 days); and the opportunity to develop your career working in an exciting and progressive environment.

To apply please visit the Join Us page of our website www.thinksmartmarketing.co.uk

BEDFORD BOROUGH COUNCIL
Economic Development & Corporate Support

Markets Manager

(Ref" BCD011)

Salary £25,437 – £26,928
plus essential User Car Allowance

Bedford has a bustling and successful Charter market which fulfils an important local need. The Council has also introduced a range of additional specialist market days.

As Markets Manager you will have a crucial role to play in the development, promotion and administration of the full range of markets, in liaison with market traders etc.. You will be supported in this role by a Markets Officer.

You will have excellent interpersonal skills and organising ability, coupled with the enthusiasm and 'common sense' approach to ensure the successful implementation and on going promotion of the Council's existing and new markets. You will also have good basic financial and IT skills as well as a sound practical understanding of the relevant market and other regulations (or at least can demonstrate the ability to acquire such knowledge through training) in order to be able to give timely advice and undertake enforcement.

We believe the position will provide considerable job satisfaction for the right applicant given the strong community impact of the role in an evolving commercial environment, for which we, in return, are offering an excellent remuneration package including the opportunity to join a final salary pension scheme. So, if you 'fit the bill' don't delay - apply right away.

The Council is an Equal Opportunities Employer and positively welcomes applications from all members of the community irrespective of race, colour, religious belief, gender, sexual orientation, age and disability. Selection is on merit alone.

Closing Date: 1st October 2007

Conditions of Advertising LSN Media (the publisher)

GENERAL
1. The publisher reserves the right to omit or suspend any advertisement even though accepted and paid for and to make any alterations necessary to maintain standards of the newspaper. The publisher also declines responsibility for the omission of a single advertisement or one or more of a series of advertisements from any cause whatsoever, nor do they accept liability for any loss or damage caused by an error or inaccuracy in the printing of an advertisement. (Advertisers are advised to check their advertisement after the insertion). No re-insertions refund or adjustment will be made where an error, mis-print or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement. The Publisher may at its sole discretion re-insert the whole or part of the advertisement with corrections or refund part or the whole value of the advertisement.
2. The publisher reserves the right to decline any advertisement without giving an explanation or which they deem the content unsuitable for publication, whether an order has been accepted or not. The publisher will not accept orders for advertisements which it deems offensive or defamatory or which infringe the Trades Description Act 1968 and The British Code of Advertising Standards Authority on such matters.
3. An order for advertising services placed by an advertiser or an advertising agency on behalf of an advertiser constitutes an assurance that necessary authorisation or permission has been granted in respect of the use of the advertisement itself, pictorial representation of a living person, references made and words attributed to a living person and text which may be the subject of copyright protection.
4. Printed conditions on advertisement orders will not be recognised as binding unless expressly accepted in writing by the publishers.
5. Advertising rates involving a series, volume or prepayment discount are expressly for the use of the advertiser concerned and are not to divulged to a third party.
6. All artwork designed by the LSN Studio remains the property of LSN Media. Where artwork services are provided, it is on the understanding that it is for the sole use in any of the LSN Media publications unless prior agreement is sought, any unauthorised reproduction will result in a charge being levied on the publisher concerned.
7. Proofs of advertisements are provided upon request but cannot be guaranteed. Where a proof is supplied, the onus is on the recipient to check that all information is correct and to provide the publisher with any necessary alterations or amendments before the expiration of the deadline. The publisher will not accept responsibility for errors in any advertisement where a proof is supplied and subsequently authorised for publication.
8. Although every effort will be made to meet advertisers requirements, specified positions cannot be guaranteed within the newspaper.
9. All advertisements which carry a premium telephone number must comply with the Code of Practice of The Independent Committee for the supervision of Standards of Telephone Information Services (CSTIS).
10. The advertiser (or his advertising agency) shall indemnify the publisher in respect of all costs, damages or any other charges as the result of legal action or the threat of legal action arising from the publisher of a single advertisement for a series of advertisements, published in accordance with copy instructions supplied to the publisher in pursuance of the advertiser or his advertising agency's order.
11. If an advertisement does not appear due to copy or artwork being supplied after the agreed deadline, the space will be payable in full at the published rates.
12. A request to insert an advertisement assumes acceptance of our Terms & Conditions of Advertising.

DISTRIBUTION
1. Unless otherwise stated, distribution will normally take place within the specified publication to the individual addresses which usually receive the publication within the area and on the date scheduled. This does not necessarily imply 100% delivery to all addresses within the area.
2. The publisher shall not be liable for total or partial non delivery of any publication in which an advertisement is scheduled to appear and no reinsertion, refund or adjustment will be made to the advertiser.

BOX NUMBERS
While every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, no liability will be accepted by the publisher in respect of any loss, damage or delay in forwarding such replies.

CANCELLATION
1. Cancellation of advertisements must be advised 24 hours prior to the booking deadline. If the publisher is unable to resell the space he reserves the right to charge for any loss of revenue incurred.
2. If any advertiser in receipt of a series, volume or prepayment discount cancels before fulfilling the terms of the agreed order, the publisher reserves the right to make a surcharge up to the full published rates for the type of advertisement.
3. Queries concerning cancelled advertisements must be accompanied by the stop number given at the time of cancellation.

PAYMENT
1. Credit facilities are at the discretion of the publisher, but such facilities are limited to strict terms of 30 days. Late payment of account may lead to suspension of account facilities. Any discount which the publisher may have agreed with the advertiser may be forfeit should the advertiser fail to meet the agreed credit terms.
2. Prepaid accounts must be settled by no later than the two days prior to publication. The publisher reserves the right to suspend any advertisement where payment has not been received.
3. Dishonoured cheques will incur a £20 administration fee. All rates are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time of any advertisement is booked to appear. Recognised advertising agency is 10%

Russell's Love & Relationship Horoscopes

Aries (Mar21-Apr20)
It's all systems go and you will need to think quickly and act even quicker to make the most of opportunities. There are some who find it hard to keep up with you so don't pile on the pressure; try to slow down and let them take a breather. Call my Aries advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why mixing and networking is a strong theme of the coming weeks as meetings, get togethers and parties are all highlighted.

Taurus (Apr21-May21)
It's a good week to carry on with discussions that have a direct bearing on your future security. If you are a typical Taurus you like to know where you stand in all areas. This is a good reason why you should steer clear of those who love to make a mystery of almost anything. Call my Taurean advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you need to make it plain you don't want to be caught up in an office intrigue or listen to unfounded rumours.

Gemini (May22-June21)
Putting a creative talent to positive use or helping someone with a job they can't do on their own could put some unexpected cash in your pocket. Failing this, a lucky break is likely to come your way that will improve your cash or career prospects. Call my Gemini advice line 09065 504 342 to hear how confidences will be exchanged in a close relationship and a growing sense of endearment makes you feel more confident about the future.

Cancer (June22-July23)
You might be following a partner's lead where a home improvement scheme is concerned. At first you might resent the situation as you feel pushed into the background. Later you will realise other people were right to pursue their ideas. Call my Cancerian advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why the end of the week is a good time to apply for a promotion, a new job or get more involved with a neighbourhood matter.

Leo (July24-Aug23)
An unexpected invitation could take you by surprise and you won't be able to help wondering whether there's an ulterior motive behind someone's apparent friendliness. Call my Leo advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why thinking for too long about the possible plots and plans people might be cooking up will be a complete waste of time. Instead, take what's on offer at face value. You will eventually be glad you did!

Virgo (Aug24-Sept23)
There's a big difference between being optimistically confident and letting wishful thinking to get the better of you. With your natural ability to stay within practical boundaries it shouldn't be too hard to channel your bright ideas in a positive direction. Call my Virgo advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why there will be some major interest in a money spinning enterprise that captures your imagination. Proceed with caution!

Libra (Sept24-Oct23)
Finding a balance between your personal and professional worlds seems to be increasingly challenging. Ideas that spring to mind to resolve a difficult situation may not be as practical as you first thought. Call my Libran advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you should discuss what looks like an inspired idea with a practical minded pal before you get carried away with your own enthusiasm they could have something valuable to add.

Scorpio (Oct24-Nov22)
For the first part of the week you might prefer to take a back seat role, but on Thursday you'll come out of your shell as you start to realise everything is going your way. Call my Scorpio advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why whilst not neglecting important tasks, devote some time to catching up with what the world around you is getting up to. You can look forward to a productive time ahead and a personal ambition will be achieved.

Sagittarius (Nov23-Dec21)
You have to learn that you can't help those who don't want to be helped, with a little gentle encouragement, they may open up to you and you will find out why they've been acting so defensively. Call my Sagittarian advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you shouldn't dismiss a child or young person as being too demanding or attention seeking; you have some advice and insights that can help this person in some way.

Capricorn (Dec22-Jan20)
Where you are decisive and quick to make up your mind, others are constantly dilly-dallying and weighing up the pros and cons. You can understand their need to be careful but they're being far too wary and their hesitancy could lose you some good opportunities. Call my Capricorn line 09065 504 342 to hear why you might act out of character by making some spur of the moment choices this week even if it means leaving someone else behind!

Aquarius (Jan21-Feb19)
Your travel plans will be prone to sudden alterations or complications. Although the erratic atmosphere is annoying, you will cope with a placid calmness other people seem to envy. Call my Aquarian advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you might encounter opportunities to advance your job prospects that Are more than likely to involve travel or a change in career direction. It's up to you whether you want to take them or not.

Pisces (Feb20-Mar20)
Either important letters or emails have been neglected or your finances are in turmoil. Added to that your work performance is inconsistent. All of these things, no matter how much you'd like to ignore them, are important. Call my Piscean advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why there will be serious repercussions if you don't deal efficiently and effectively with crucial cash and career concerns. MKMOTORING

Ahead of its time and hard to beat

The latest Civic has wowed the critics with its bold styling but just how much practicality lies beneath the sleek silhouette? ANDY ENRIGHT checks on how our long term car measures up

COUCHED, in terms of passenger space, the most efficient shape for a car is a big rectangular box.

Look at a bus or a train and you'll get the idea. It's the reason why so few MPV people carriers are truly desirable and most supercars are.

The extremes of the scale are easy to justify, compromise not being their business.

When it comes to family cars, however, things are more difficult. These are expected to do a bit of everything - look good, entertain the driver, offer decent fuel economy and still be able to fulfil all of the family duties.

Since we took delivery of our long term Honda Civic we've yet to grow bored of its next generation styling but can a shape that sassy be anything other than a practical disaster?

Closer inspection reveals the depth of thought that has gone into the Civic. The tip-up, dive-down rear seats are unique, and fundamental to achieving a comfortable, spacious environment was a central fuel tank layout which permits a low and flat rear floor to the benefit of both passengers and load carrying capacity.

The compact look of the Civic is a neat styling trick. In terms of cabin space and practicality, the Civic sets new standards in the family hatch segment, taking the baton from the Ford Focus, the car that for many years defined the class best.

Honda's designers are rightly proud of their work and can point to all sorts of arcane measures that highlight the extent of their achievements. Ever heard of the tandem distance? Me neither, but it's defined as the distance from the hip point of the front seat passenger to that of the rear seat passenger.

In the Civic it measures 835mm, a figure on a par with some larger medium range family saloons of the Mondeo class and it's better than many executive saloons. It'll put a BMW 3 Series to shame in this key regard. That centrally-located fuel tank mounted just beneath the front cabin floor plays a key role in achieving spaciousness and the flexibility of the cabin.

We set about the Civic armed with tape measures, empty boxes and the 22-stone tyre fitter from the garage down the road. He's 6'5" and he can get comfortable in four of the Civic's seats. Folding the seats is no problem for this guy either, a man we once watched for the best part of an hour trying to lever a 16-inch tyre onto an 18-inch rim.

Collapsing either section of the 60:40 split rear seat completely into the deep footwell to create a flat load floor requires one easy step, and unlike some competitors, it's all possible from a position standing just inside the rear door. The luggage compartment is the largest in class by a substantial margin and even exceeds the capacity of some much bigger cars. While the class average is around 320 litres, the Civic provides 485 litres (1,352 litres to the window with rear seats folded down) of totally unobstructed space. Manufacturers love to measure things by golf bag capacity. The Civic takes three full sized bags in its boot.

It's only now that you begin to realise why there was such a deep depression cast over rival design teams when the Civic made its debut at the 2005 Frankfurt Show. Expect cars that crib the Civic's ideas to be appearing in a year or two. In the meantime, if you want a family hatch that fulfils its practical duties whilst still having the most head turning shape on the block, you're looking at it right here.

PREVIEWS

DARLINGTON
League Two
Saturday, September 22. KO 3pm stadium:mk

THIS weekend MK Dons will face their toughest test in the league so far when they take on top-of-the-table Darlington.

The Quakers have made a great start to the season, they are undefeated and have picked up 14 points from a possible 18. The clash between the sides is perfectly poised, the Dons are currently scoring for fun with 15 goals in six games, but the Quakers have kept five clean sheets and only leaked two goals.

Yet the Quakers defenders will have to be on their toes as they go head to head with one of the most pacy and direct striking force in the league.

The Dons will also have their work cut-out for them as they try and keep striker Pawel Abbott quiet.

The former-Huddersfield front man turned down a contract with the Dons in the summer of 2006 and is currently topping the goalscoring charts for Darlington.

One Dons player who will be hoping to feature in the game will be Jemal Johnson (pictured) having had a spell with the Quakers two years ago.

They will be aware of the threat Johnson carries after the striker scored three goals in nine appearances for them, even more worrying is he opened his Dons scoring account and set up another in the sides 3-0 win against Brentford.

MK Dons' Johnstone's Paint Trophy Second Round clash against Peterborough will take place on Tuesday, October 9, kick-off at 7.45pm.

Tickets for the game are on general sale now, but season-ticket holders have until 5pm on Friday, September 28 to secure their seat for the match.

The club have cut the prices of tickets for the game.

Adult tickets will be £8 while juniors and concessions will be £1 in all areas – excluding club red.

MIKE Dove's Dons reserves side fell to their third defeat of the season, as Peterborough beat them 3-2.

The Dons came from behind on two occasions with Stephane Koffi and Sam Collins finding the net, but a last-minute header from Alfie Potter saw Posh steal the victory.

DONS defender Sam Page has joined non-league Walton and Hersham on a month's loan.

The 19-year-old was sent out on loan to gain some more first-team experience and made his first start for the club in their FA Cup, First Qualifying Round. They drew 1-1 with Eastbourne Town.

DONS skipper Keith Andrews has made the League Two team of the week for the third time this season. The midfielder, who grabbed two goals at the weekend, is also joined by defender Sean O'Hanlon.

League Two Team of the Week: David Stockdale (Darlington), James Vaughan (Chester), Sean O'Hanlon (MK Dons), Janos Kovacs (Chesterfield), Thomas Harban (Bradford City), Lionel Ainsworth (Hereford), Stephen Brogan (Rotherham), Keith Andrews (MK Dons), Clint Easton (Hereford), Jack Lester (Chesterfield), Pawell Abbott (Darlington).

Diallo shines in resolute victory

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

DRISSA DIALLO's courageous performance in MK Dons' 3-0 win over Brentford epitomised everything the side should stand for, according to boss Paul Ince.

The Dons defender was left with a nasty gash above his eye after clashing heads with Bees forward Lee Thorne, just 15 seconds into the game.

The irony of the injury was not lost on the Griffin Park crowd as Terry Butcher and Ince sat in their respective dugouts encouraging their teams. The most famous pictures of both former England captains are those of them sporting head bandages and blood-stained shirts in their Three Lions outfits, which demonstrated their passion and commitment to football.

Following lengthy treatment on the pitch Diallo returned to his right-back position, a role he has taken up since the arrival of centre back Danny Swailes, and continued the game in ruthless fashion.

Talking of the incident, Ince said: "Drissa was absolutely outstanding, he had stitches and an injection at half-time without anaesthetic – which must have killed him!

"It epitomised what a great man he is and he is exactly the kind of player we need in the team."

By no means did the Dons play their most attractive football, nor was it the most enthralling game to watch, but fans would have been happy to leave London having seen their team grind out another win by a convincing scoreline.

From the offset it was a stop-start game and it was through set pieces that the Bees looked more likely to score. It was the boot of former Dons midfielder Gary Smith, in his first start for the side, that provided the home side with their best chances.

Yet elsewhere on the pitch the Dons were by far the more confident and fluent team on the pitch, as the Bees were struggling to keep up.

Keith Andrew's goal midway through the first half got the Dons going in the game, when he smashed a 40-yard-strike past Ben Hamer in goal.

A re-think in the tactics for Butcher's side saw them show a more attacking mind set in the second half, but the Dons defence began to frustrate as the Bees struggled to find a way through.

At the other end, while Leon Knight had not been at his best, the Bees back line would have been glad to see the back of him.

When the pint-sized striker played for Swansea he condemned Brentford to 2-0 defeats on two occasions and were more than aware of his constant threat upfront.

But the Bees defence were then presented with the equally tricky striker Jemal Johnson.

In his past two substitute appearances Johnson has added an extra dimension to the Dons game, and this time his impact as no different.

The former-Wolves player has been used down the flanks by Ince and he demonstrated exactly why when he burst through the left and somehow found the pin-point pass from the byline for Andrews to stretch a foot to for the second goal.

Johnson then capped off another quality cameo appearance with his first goal for the Dons after following up a shot from Bally Smart, who joined the Dons on loan from Norwich last week, with a stunning volley in the final minute to earn the side their first away win of the season.

FANS' FAVOURITE WRITES FOR YOU

PAUL MITCHELL

AS I said in my column last week, the game at Brentford was always going to be a tough match and that was the way it turned out but it was great to get our first away win of the season.

But if there was one thing about the game that disappointed me it was the Brentford fans shouting for the head of Terry Butcher.

It always saddens me when a manager is being called to be sacked, and when you look at the results they have had and being sat in mid-table, it just shows that some fans don't give managers enough time these days.

It's often the case that the next win is right around the corner but they might never get the chance to see it.

To the game itself, after a good start we opened the scoring with that man again, Keith Andrews.

At the moment, in my opinion, he is one of the best players outside of the Championship and his form is testament to that. Six goals in six games is frightening for a midfielder and long may it continue.

But on the other side of the coin there was a fantastic performance from our back four and goalkeeper.

No disrespect to the players that have played there before, but the partnership of Sean O'Hanlon and Danny Swailes looks a solid unit and it looks as though they have been playing together for years.

Saturday was also a League Two debut for Bally Smart, who I thought acquitted himself exceptionally well for an 18-year-old lad. He was only on the pitch for ten minutes but he wreaked havoc and really seemed to enjoy his time out there so fair play to him.

Once again it was nice to see a different goalscorer and, as I have said before, having a number of different scorers relieves the pressure on the strike force.

Just to finish off, I'd like to say a big thank you to the Gaffer for letting me get away for a week so I won't be seeing you on Saturday, I'll be on a crocodile-shaped lilo somewhere! But don't worry, the Gaffer and Russ have got me on a heart rate monitor so I won't be getting out of any work!

So let's hope the last two wins are the start of a run that will continue on Saturday against Darlington, who have had a mightily impressive start.

We'll have to be at our best to keep our strong home form going.

See you when I get back.

MOTOR RACING

Webber's centenary hit

MARK Webber celebrated his 100th Grand Prix start by claiming two championship points at the Belgian meeting, but it was another bad weekend for his team mate David Coulthard who was forced to retire with hydraulic problems.

Following a strong race Webber has moved up to eleventh place in the driver's Championship with ten points to his name and is now just three points away from breaking into the top ten.

It was an impressive weekend behind the wheel for Webber, and having qualified in seventh place, the Aussie driver held off intense pressure from Jarno Trulli to clinch the points. Speaking after the race Webber said: "It's very good for us to get points today, it's not always easy for us these days and it was great to beat the other Renault team fair and square. It was an enjoyable race."

But it was not so enjoyable for Coulthard as he failed to finish for the second successive time.

The Scotsman's retirement was a blow to the Red Bull team and spectators watching after an intriguing four-way battle between Coulthard, Robert Kubica, Jenson Button and Adrian Sutil who were all trying to break away from the middle of the pack.

Unfortunately for Coulthard his RB3 will still not shake off the reliability issues that have plagued the Red Bull season and he was forced to retire on the 32nd lap as the hydraulic issues began to affect the cars power steering.

Mark Webber on his way to collecting two points in Sunday's Belgian Grand Prix

A disappointed Coulthard said: "The car wasn't too good when exiting the corners, or braking into the chicane and the hairpin, in fact there were a lot of problems which aren't usual for this car, so we need to try and understand what went wrong."

BOTH Webber and Coulthard will be among several celebrity and sports stars who will attend former driver and F1 commentater Martin Brundle's charity dinner at MK's Daytona. The event will feature a 2.5 hour team race in Daytona's hi-spec pro-karts, a celebrity captain will join up with teams of four, and will join guests for dinner afterwards.

The event is being organised by Martin Brundle to support his favourite charity; SPARKS (SPorts Aiding medical Research for KidS) which aids research into kid's diseases.

The complete race-dining package costs £1700 plus VAT per team of four (includes 8 places for dinner). The event will take place on Saturday, October 13, for more information call 0845 644 5503 or visit www.daytona.co.uk

Lightning in pole position after cup-tie double

MK Lightning got off to the best possible start in their EPL Cup campaign with wins against Guildford Flames and Chelmsford Chieftains.

First up was Guildford, a team that is largely expected to be challenging for silverware this season, and a bright start for Lightning saw them dominate proceedings.

Gary Clarke scored all four of Lightning's goals in the game, his first came in the opening period and the team had plenty of chances to increase their lead.

But the second period was a lot closer between the sides, the Flames pulled two goals back through Nick Cross and Lukas Smital, only for Clarke to keep Lightning one goal ahead with two more of his own.

Both sides went all out in the final period, and Lightning netminder Barry Hollyhead made key saves before Clarke added the final goal in the dying seconds of the game to seal the 4-2 victory.

Sunday's match against Chelmsford, who strengthened their side over the summer, proved to be the tougher tie of the weekend for Lightning.

It was a slow start to the game as they found themselves 2-1 down at the end of the first period.

Yet Nick Poole's side plugged away in the second and began to take control of the game as they found the net three times to take a 4-3 lead into the final period.

Once again it was a last-minute goal that secured the win for Lightning, but this time it was Poole, Alez Parez and Toni Alasaarela who were the goalscorers of the evening.

Having beaten both teams, Lightning are sitting at the top of their group.

■ THIS weekend Lightning start their league campaign, they are at home to Sheffield Scimitars on Saturday, face-off is at 7pm.
And away to Bracknell Bees on Sunday, face-off is at 6pm.

Local sides enjoy success as season settles in

SOUTHERN COUNTIES NORTH

AN impressive performance from Milton Keynes saw them record their first victory of the season as they beat Newbury Stags 24-0.

With the scores even at half-time MK stepped up a notch in the second half and ran in four tries with Dean Pearson, Eddie Slater, Mads Jensen and Timothy Parkinson all touching down.

Mike Dean added two conversions to seal the win and push MK up to third place.

OLNEY moved up to the top of the table following their impressive 37-5 win over Slough.

Both forwards and the backs got their names on the scoresheet to help make it two wins in two games for Olney.

Tom Stanton and Steve Harrison capped off their hard work in the game with a try each, while Ben Pry, Tanae Peakman, Rhys Peakman and James Hannah also crossed the line.

WEST TWO EAST DIVISION

NEW boys Bletchley put last week's 56-0 thrashing by Walcot behind them to beat Henley Wanderers 24-18.

Giant lock Adam Dempsey and Chris Goodman crashed over the line to leave the score 13-12 in favour of Henley at the break. Chris Coussell and Tim Stobbs then added Bletchley tries after the break and Richard Tonkin slotted two conversion to turn around the half-time deficit.

MK SPORTS SHORTS

LOCAL FOOTBALL

IN division one of the South Midlands league, NEW BRADWELL ST PETER were held to a 3-3 draw with Kentish Town while WINLOW UNITED lost 5-3 to Haringey Borough.

BUCKINGHAM ATHLETIC also lost their game against Royston Town 1-0.

But MURSLEY TOWN beat Caddington 2-1 in division two.

In the United Counties League Premier Division NEWPORT PAGNELL TOWN lost their midweek game against St Ives Town 2-1, and lost by the same scoreline to Stewarts and Lloyds Corby at the weekend.

OLNEY TOWN won their division one clash with Burton Park Wanderes 4-1.

Basketball

THE Lions beat London Leopards 122-64 in their final pre-season match.

They start their BBL campaign this Friday away to London Capital, tip-off is at 7.30pm.

The club are also holding trials for a ladies basketball side. If you are interested head down to Lean School and Sports College for 8pm and join in the free session.

Should numbers be good they will enter the ladies team in the Northants Basketball League.

BLETCHLEY Lions were back in action last Tuesday and every Tuesday from now on and Marshall MK Lions players, Terrell Brown and Shawn Jamison will take charge of various sessions.

Youngsters have access to two basketball courts for two hours as they hone their skills under expert guidance. To join or for information just head down to the Bletchley Leisure Centre at 5.30pm any Tuesday – the first session is free.

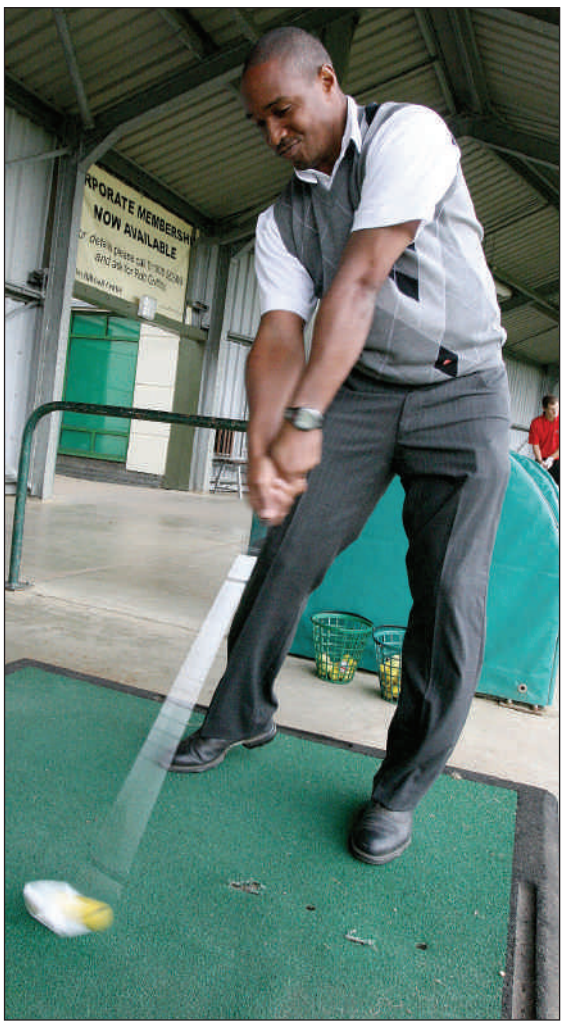
Dons win rewarded with a day on the golf course



Boss Paul Ince gets some pre-match practice

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MK Dons players and staff were given a well-deserved break from training on Monday and instead tried their hand at a round of golf.

With spirits high following their 3-0 win at Brentford, Paul Ince was keen to keep the positive atmosphere in the camp and decided Abbey Hill Golf Club would be the perfect place to go.

"It's not a reward as such, because we haven't achieved anything yet," Ince said.

"It's more a bonding session, you can build team spirit better on the training ground than on the pitch.

"But sometimes it's nice to get away and have a laugh.

"We should have trained in the morning but the players worked so hard on Saturday and I thought it would be a nice break for the players."

Being professional sportsmen there was always going to be an added competitive edge, none more so than in the game between Ince and fitness coach Duncan Russell who took on Alan Navarro and Willy Gueret.

Ince said: "It's a long season and the last thing I want is Willy Gueret giving me and Russ stick for the rest of the season, it's important that the staff win the game!"

As it turned out Gueret, touted as the best golfer in the team, struggled on the day as he and partner Navarro were well beaten by Ince and Russell.

While the staff may have claimed victory on the golf course, the players hard work on the pitch has not gone unnoticed.

One player in particular who stood out in the Brentford game was Keith Andrews, the skipper scored seven goals for the Dons last season, and after bagging two at the weekend he has taken this years tally to six in six games.

With Andrews continuing to improve in his central role, Ince has admitted he could have face a challenge keeping hold of his captain fantastic.

"I'm a little bit worried, I might have to sign him on a five-year-deal!

"Once he started scoring he hasn't stopped, but it's not just about his goals it's his all round game.

"He's been a revelation, and the lads really respect him as their captain."

The players will continue their training as normal for the rest of the week as they face the task of turning over top of the table Darlington this Saturday.

Ince said: "We've got to concentrate on Darlington. I've got the reports and they're playing very, very well.

"It's not going to be an easy game, none of them are, but it's got the ingredients to be a fantastic match."
